NEW PLAN FOR COMPLETION OF STONE MOUNTAIN MEMORIAL APPROVED BY ASSOCIATION DIRECTORS

Council Accepts Dinkler Bid for City Hall Site

COMPANY TO PAY
$3,550,000 RENT
ON 65-YEAR LEASE

Notice of Reconsideration Is Served After Proposal Is Approved by Vote of 11 to 6.

WITHDRAWN LATER

Dinklers Silent on Plans for Utilization of Site. Action Follows Stormy Council Session.

Lease of the present site of the Atlanta city hall at Marietta and Forsyth streets to the Carling Hotel Company, Inc., for 65 years at a rental of $3,550,000 was passed Thursday afternoon at a special meeting of city council.

Vote was 11 for the award and six against. Notice of reconsideration was served by Councilmen James L. Wells, of the eighth ward, and George Lyle, of the 11th.

C. F. Palmer, of Palmer, Inc., which offered the only other bid under consideration of council at the session, and which bid was recommended by the special city hall and buildings and grounds committees of council, addressed a letter to Mayor L. N. Ragsdale and city council late Thursday night formally withdrawing the Palmer bid, calling for payment of $3,250,000 as a real estate commission.

Following announcement of Mr. Palmer that he would withdraw his bid, filed for his clients, the Baker Hotels Corporation, Mr. Lyle stated he would withdraw his motion to reconsider as the city now has but one bid before it. Mr. Wells declared he had not decided what course he would pursue.

It was indicated that if the motion for reconsideration is withdrawn, Mayor L. N. Ragsdale will be asked to call a special meeting of council to pass the paper to the aldermanic board for its vote. Since the paper dealt with city finances, only council could act on it Thursday and the motion to reconsider blocked any action by the aldermanic board. If the motion is withdrawn, the way will be paved for immediate action.

The Carling bid was approved after one of the stormiest sessions council has held within the past several months and after it had been attacked on the grounds that it was not accompanied with a certified check, a condition which council imposed at its regular session Monday.

Members of the city hall committee, headed by Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon, and the buildings and grounds committee, headed by Councilman Lyle, opened the bids at a joint meeting of the committees held at noon at the city hall.

The Palmer bid, which was the same as had been offered to city council last Monday, was accompanied by a certified check for $500,000. The only revision was that it was stipulated that unless the Palmer interests filed satisfactory guarantees with the city within the next 60 days that a building of the value of less than $2,500,000 would be erected, the city would, at its option, be at liberty to cancel the lease award if it were made to the Palmer company.

Councilman Frank H. Reynolds, of the eighth ward, declared he was asked to file the Carling bid, which he did.

The bid called for payment of $3,550,000 into the city treasury within the next 65 years. Another stipulation was that if the city receives a better bid within the next 60 days, it (the city) at its option would be at liberty to cancel the Carling contract and accept the newer and better offer. No check accompanied the bid at the time.

When the Carling paper was offered to city council as a minority report of the joint committees by Alderman Robert E. Gann, of the sixth, it was accompanied by a check for $500,000 and a letter stating that the company would guarantee, within 60 days, to place an improvement on the property to cost at least $2,500,000.

Assurances Required.

Before making the award to the Carling Company council passed a resolution offered by Councilman Wiley L. Moore, of the seventh ward, and chairman of the finance committee, forcing the company to furnish the city with satisfactory assurances that an improvement costing at least

PALMER CITY HALL BID IS WITHDRAWN

Action Is Declared Taken With View of Expediting $2,500,000 Improvement for Site.

With a view, they assert, of expediting leasing and improvement of the old city hall site, Palmer, Incorporated, late Thursday withdrew their bid for the property, following the offer of the Carling Hotel Company to make a $2,500,000 improvement on the tract.

The hotel company representative had stated on the floor of council that within 60 days it would guarantee this improvement. Council accepted the proposal with an amendment limiting the time to 30 days and demanding a $500,000 deposit.

Following this action, a notice of reconsideration was filed. Withdrawal of the Palmer bid is expected to eliminate this motion and pave the way for immediate action by the Carling company.

The letter of Palmer, Inc., which has been sent to the mayor and council, follows:

"The Mayor and General Council, Atlanta, Georgia.

"Gentlemen: Based on the statements of the authorized representative of the Carling Hotel Company on the floor of council today that within 60 days it would guarantee a $2,500,000 improvement for the city hall site or willingly have the lease cancelled, such agreement having been accepted by the city council, we hereby withdraw our proposal so there will be no delay in completing arrangements.

"We understand such action on our part will eliminate the motion to reconsider which otherwise might have held action on their proposition in abeyance.

"If the Carling Hotel Company fails to fulfill its obligations we will be glad to reopen the matter provided executives of the Baker Corporation, who were in the city today, have not closed on another site in the meantime. Respectfully yours,

"PALMER, INCORPORATED.

NEELY TO ASSIST IN SEWER SURVEY

Chairman of Bond Board Will Aid in Selecting Men Needed for Studying Big Problem.

Frank H. Neely, chairman of the Atlanta bond commission, Thursday afternoon was added to the group to select sewer engineers to assist in the survey of Atlanta and its environs for the purpose of providing adequate disposal units for Atlanta sewage.

Action of council was unanimous and without comment of members. The paper was presented by Alderman P. L. Moon, chairman of the sewer committee of council.

Under the amendment Mr. Neely, who is himself an engineer and an able executive, will be included with members of the sewer committee and Chief of Construction Clarke Donaldson, named previously to select the assistance needed to push the survey.

Action of city council Thursday cleared the way for immediate sanction by the bond commission of expenditure of the $25,000 fund and for actual start on the survey within the next few days.

Alderman Moon Thursday night expressed the hope that the commission would act at the earliest possible moment so that steps to relieve the most impossible sewer conditions at various disposal plants may be relieved as soon as feasible.

A petition signed by a large number of citizens in the vicinity of Sugar and Entrenchment creeks and South river was received and filed by council. They sought relief from what they termed almost unbearable conditions caused by emptying of untreated sewage in the streams.

Two Great Games, Here and at Athens, Send Pigskin Fever Soaring in Atlanta.

BY ED DANFORTH.

Atlanta is gasping today in the first throbs of the greatest gridiron congestion in the annals of the game. And if it develops into the most harrowing pigskin headache of the century none will care.

For the two big football teams of the state, entrenched on their own red clay soil, have manned their guns to repel formidable invaders—and the clans have gathered from the far-flung borders of Dixie to view the repelling or the devastating as the case may be.

Georgia Tech, undefeated on the cross-barred turf since the middle of the 1927 season, meets the plugging Tarheel eleven from the University of North Carolina this afternoon on Grant field at 2:30 o'clock. The game is a pivot on which the championship of the conference may turn, and the rival eleven are given an equal chance to win and take a commanding position in the race.

Georgia steps proudly into the center of its brand-new Sanford stadium in Athens Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, eastern time, to meet the first football team that Yale university ever sent out of the east. Yale's veteran team is generally expected to win, but the Athens Bulldogs, inspired by their great opportunity to dedicate their new athletic plant with a victory, will be sure to fight with traditional ferocity.

Two such colorful and important gridiron battles have never been played on a Friday and a Saturday morning in the South. Small wonder, then, that Atlanta is jammed with a football crowd that for numbers and enthusiasm has never been rivaled. Old Grant field, the scene of the first football game ever played in the city, is a North Carolina here, jamming the hotels and making the world miserable for traveling salesmen. They have been alighting earnestly for part of a day and this form of in-and-outdoor exercise will reach a peak today.

Twenty thousand will see the Yellow Jackets and the Tarheels clash, and over 30,000 will see Yale and Georgia play.

Lost in the crowd but present in the flesh, nevertheless, will be the governors of four states. Governor L. G. Hardman will wear the White and Gold of Tech and the Red and Black of Georgia, while Governor N. McCall, of North Carolina, is here to see the boys gun for Tech's warmed-over title.

Following Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, who spends the winter at Warm Springs, will be a Tech and a Georgia supporter at once. Governor Bibb Graves, of Alabama, is a Yale graduate and will pay his respects to the Blue Bulldogs in Athens in person. Meanwhile he will stop over for the Grant field frolic this afternoon.

But what are mere governors when the great army of graduates of four great universities gather in one city to make merry while their champions tilt?

Early Saturday morning the "what-ifs" of the gridiron football enthusiasts, will begin moving toward Athens on 23 special trains. Specials from Louisville, Cincinnati, Nashville, Knoxville, Birmingham, New Orleans, Columbus, Mobile, Macon and from the east will converge on the Athens.

And the heady wine of a major inter-sectional game will be on tap.

JOHN BELL KEEBLE, VANDY LAW DEAN, DIES IN NASHVILLE

Nashville, Tenn., October 10.—(AP) John Bell Keeble, 61 years old, dean of the Vanderbilt University Law School and a former president of the Tennessee Bar Association, died unexpectedly at his home here late today of a heart attack.

Born in Murfreesboro May 13, 1868, Keeble received his bachelor of laws degree from Vanderbilt in 1888 and later Southwestern college, then located at Clarksville, conferred the doctor of laws degree.

He had been district counsel for the Louisville & Nashville railroad for many years. His grandfather, John Bell, was the presidential candidate of the constitutional union party in 1860.

He began the practice of law shortly after graduation and from 1895 to 1897 was city attorney of Nashville.

Shortly after his term as city attorney he was appointed a member of the Vanderbilt law faculty and had continued his teaching in connection with his law practice.

January 6, 1907, he was married to Miss Emmie Frazer. Besides his widow, he leaves two daughters, Misses Cornelia and Emmie Keeble, and four sons, John Bell Keeble, Jr., Sidney, Edwin and David Keeble.

ISLAND AUTONOMY DECISIVELY BEATEN FOR SECOND TIME

Senate Rejects Pledge of Early Independence for Philippines; Coalition Seen as Crumbling.

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER.

Associated Press Staff Writer.
Washington, October 10.—(AP)—For the second time in as many days the senate today rejected an amendment to the tariff bill designed to obtain early independence of the Philippines, and thereby removed an issue which threatened seriously to delay the Hawley-Smoot measure.

The amendment finally voted upon was a combination proposal offered by Senators Broussard, of Louisiana, and Walsh, of Massachusetts, both democrats, which would have declared congress' intention to free the Philippines in the immediate future and requested the president to call a conference of nations to agree to "respect" that independence.

The vote, 63 to 19, was more overwhelming against deciding the Philippine question at this juncture than the 45-to-36 ballot cast yesterday against the amendment of Senator King, democrat, Utah, which would have granted independence.

H. H. McCALL, SR., DIES AT RESIDENCE

Popular Atlantan and Leader in Manufacturing Field Had Been Ill Since Christmas.

H. H. McCall, Sr., prominent Atlantan, and president of the Paragon Box Company, died at 9:15 o'clock Thursday night at his apartment at the Georgian Terrace after a long sickness.

His illness began last Christmas and since that time he had undergone two operations. For the last six weeks he had been confined to his bed. His son and his wife were with him when he died.

Funeral services, which will be held next Sunday afternoon, are in charge of H. M. Patterson & Son.

Mr. McCall was born in Longstreet, Ga., Bleckley county, October 19, 1864. His father, David H. McCall, of Sylvania, his father was one of the most distinguished Baptist ministers of Georgia, and his mother was Miss Etta Augusta Fidler.

Mr. McCall received a splendid education in the schools taught by his father and was an honor graduate of Mercer university, where an A. B. degree was conferred on him.

He entered his business career with the S. F. & W. railroad at Gainesville, Fla., and when he married in 1891 he came to Atlanta, where he was a local and liberal citizen, ever ready to help in the fostering and forwarding of any civic enterprise.

He responded to every call for patriotism during the World War, especially in the Red Cross, Salvation Army, and Liberty Loan drives, giving much of his time and donations to furthering these causes. He was prominently identified with Atlanta's industrial interests as president and owner of the Paragon Box Company, a corporation that has aided in bringing Atlanta to the fore as a manufacturing center.

Mr. McCall is survived by his son, Howard H. McCall, Jr., who was a charter member of the Ponce de Leon Avenue church, took a profound interest in its work and for many years was an active officer in both church and Sunday school. He was a member of Georgia Lodge, F. & A. Masons, the Capital City and Brookhaven clubs.

JURY CONSIDERS MRS. POWERS' FATE

Case of Aged Landlady Goes to Jury After Brief Trial in Orphan's Murder.

Macon, Ga., October 11.—(Friday.) The case of Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Powers, 71, charged with instigating the murder of James W. Parks, 18-year-old orphan roomer at her home, was given to the jury here shortly after midnight this morning.

After one of the shortest first-degree murder trials in the history of the state, defense arguments were completed at 11:30 o'clock last night and Judge H. A. Mathews began his charge to the jury which was finished shortly after midnight. The trial was started Wednesday at noon with completion of the jury.

Closing their case with a dramatic suddenness after Mrs. Powers had read an 800-word statement in which she denied any knowledge of the murder or any recollection of an alleged confession admitting she plotted the killing, attorneys late Thursday afternoon announced that the defendant, the Macon landlady, would be the only witness offered by the defense.

Earl Manchester, 19-year-old fellow roomer of Parks, who is under sentence of death for the crime, who confessed during his trial that Mrs. Powers offered him $1,000 to kill Parks so she could collect $14,000 insurance on his life, refused to testify.

During Solicitor Garrett's last hour of argument to the jury, while he was painting a mental picture of the accused plotter of the crime, Mrs. Powers broke into tears. Her head dropped and her sobbing at times could be heard through the courtroom. It was her only show of emotion during the trial. She read her statement to the jury calmly.

FRED FAIR LEADS RELIGIOUS SONGS AT FULTON TOWER

Fred Fair, condemned to die for the slaying of Patrolman J. E. McDaniel, filled his cell block in Fulton tower Thursday with religious songs for the first time since he tried twice to kill himself about a week ago. Fair so ably collected $14,000 insurance on his life, refused to testify.

Fair recently has taken a deep interest in the Bible and religion and often has preached to his cellmates and led in singing hymns. Since the suicide attempt, however, Fair had been morose. His second appeal to the supreme court for a new trial was made Wednesday and taken under advisement.

9:00 P.M.—Dixie fireworks display; Royal American shows and rides open until 12 p. m.

With the governors of five states bringing executive dignity and 60,000 school children from Greater Atlanta furnishing enthusiasm and noise, the Southeastern Fair faces what will probably be the biggest day of its 1929 season today.

Governor L. G. Hardman, of Georgia, will be official host today to fellow executives from four states, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York; Governor Harry E. Byrd, of Virginia; Governor C. Max Gardner, of North Carolina, and Governor Bibb Graves, of Alabama.

Governors Gardner, Byrd and Graves will be received on the plaza at 10 o'clock this morning by Alfred C. Newell, president of the fair association, who will introduce the three executives to the throngs. Mr. Newell will then conduct the three executives on a tour of the grounds and the exposition buildings.

Governor Roosevelt will be escorted from his vacation home at Warm Springs, Ga., by automobile by Horace Russell, chairman of the fair reception committee, and Judge Arthur G. Powell. They will be met at the county line by a special reception committee of distinguished citizens.

CONTEST HEATED FOR GUARD OFFICE

Officers of 122d Infantry Ask Napier for Rulings On Election of Lieutenant Colonel.

The contest revolving about the race between Major Charles E. Thompson and Major Thomas L. Alexander for the vacant lieutenant colonel of the 122d Infantry became heated Thursday when delegations representing both factions appeared before Attorney-General George Napier, to whom the decision of certain legal points has been referred.

The race, which had extended over a 10-day voting period, culminated Monday of this week. Although no official announcement has been made of the result, it is informally known that both Major Thompson and Major Alexander received approximately the same number of votes.

The Thompson adherents claim that the vote of a warrant officer given in the election should not have been counted. Only commissioned officers, they say, of whom there are 65, are eligible to vote in such elections.

They also assert that a proxy executed by a commissioned officer, which was not allowed by the election managers, should have been counted.

A favorable decision on either of their contentions, they state, would place Major Thompson in the vacant office.

Among those who appeared before the attorney-general to submit their contentions were both Colonel Gerald O'Keefe and Major Thompson.

The adherents of Major Alexander, it was said, say that the vote of a warrant officer has always been allowed in similar elections and should be in this. They also protest that the proxy ballot was legally thrown out.

Adjutant General Homer C. Parker was also in conference with Mr. Napier. He stated that the decision of the ballot was not left to the attorney-general, that Mr. Napier was acting in the capacity of legal advisor to him.

Mr. Napier indicated that an opinion on the two points would be submitted to the adjutant general sometime Friday. The adjutant general was non-committal as to when his decision would be made.

Frank and heated opinions were expressed by those interested in the election as they awaited an audience with Mr. Napier. Major Thompson expressed the determination, in the event of an adverse decision, of carrying the case before the adjutant general at Washington, to whom, he understood, there is a right of appeal.

FOUR GOVERNMENT BODIES PROPOSED TO DIRECT CARVING

Directors Accept Suggestion To Ask Atlanta, Decatur, Fulton and DeKalb To Assume Task

CALL ASSOCIATION TO MEET OCT. 21

Willis Resignation of Presidency Not Accepted—Will Stay in Office Until October Meeting.

Rights and interests of the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental Association in the memorial and would be turned over to the cities of Atlanta and Decatur and the counties of Fulton and DeKalb and to Georgia and other southern states in order to assure completion of the memorial, under a plan approved Thursday by the directors of the association for submission to the association at a meeting which will be held on Monday, October 21.

Presented by Councilman Wiley L. Moore as a plan for solution of the memorial difficulties, the proposal to have the city and county governments complete the central group of three figures was acclaimed by members of the board of directors as the most feasible plan yet suggested.

A committee composed of J. Howell Green, chairman; Philip H. Alston, H. Y. McCord, E. Rivers, Major Clark Howell, Jr., and Ben S. Barker will meet at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon in Mr. Rivers' office, 405 Palmer building, to confer with city and county attorneys regarding legal questions involved in the matter.

The directors refused to accept the resignation of G. F. Willis as president, and prevailed upon Mr. Willis to serve until the plan is presented to the association on October 21. Mr. Willis agreed to continue service on condition that Mr. Green be made executive vice president to handle matters connected with the association while Mr. Willis is out of the city. The condition was accepted and Mr. Green was elected to the newly created office.

Borglum Mentioned. The name of Gutzon Borglum, original sculptor employed by the association, was mentioned frequently during the meeting. Councilman John I. Kelly, attorney for the venerable family, donors of the mountain site, said that the directors that Sam H. Venable, one of the principal donors, would not consent to any extension of time or change in the program is brought back to complete the memorial.

E. Rivers, a member of the directors, said he would be glad to see the plan presented to the association on October 21. Mr. Willis agreed to continue service on condition that Mr. Green be made executive vice president to handle matters connected with the association while Mr. Willis is out of the city. The condition was accepted and Mr. Green was elected to the newly created office.

Georgia W. C. T. U. Will Be Invited For Waycross Meet

Waycross, Ga., October 10.—(Special.)—The Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Georgia will be invited to hold its 1930 convention in Waycross, the Junior Chamber of Commerce having voted to extend the invitation.

The W. C. T. U. will meet in Macon for its 1929 session, and the invitation will be offered there.

CONFERENCE CABINET TO MEET OCTOBER 28

Waycross, Ga., October 10.—(Special.)—Rev. James R. Webb, presiding elder of the Waycross district, will attend a cabinet meeting for the South Georgia Conference in Macon, October 28.

It is the custom of Bishop W. B. Beauchamp to call his cabinet of 10 presiding elders together each year just in advance of the annual conference. The appointments of the ministers to the various Methodist churches in the conference are decided upon at this cabinet meeting.

UNION OFFERS PLAN TO PREVENT STRIKE

Proposal Presented to Rayon Officials Would Name Board of Three.

Elizabethton, Tenn., October 10.—(AP)—A plan which union officials believe may avert another strike at the American Bemberg and Glanzstoff rayon plants today was in the hands of officials of the two mills where union leaders claim members of their organization are being discriminated against.

The union's plan asked that a board of three persons be selected, one from the plants, one from the union, and a third person to be agreed upon by both parties. The board would take up the present disputes and their agreement would be final, the union's project said.

The procedure, which was voted at a meeting of the local union last night, was signed by Paul Armon, president of the Tennessee Federation of Labor, J. C. Donnelly, president of the local labor organization, and Paul Fuller, of the national offices of the United Textile Workers. Labor leaders said they believed the plan will not only quiet the present disputes, but will prevent disputes, and probably future trouble.

"We are in every way trying to avert another strike," Armon said today. "Another strike here would mean suffering, great damage to the city, and union, as well as to the plants. We hope that we can settle present grievances without having to follow the results of our strike vote, which was in favor of another walk-out, provided we can not agree with the plants on present disputes," he said.

Officials of the plants made no statement today in regard to the settlement plan offered by the local unit of the United Textile Workers of America. An official statement was expected, probably tomorrow, pending action by the board of directors of the mills.

Fair, Warmer Weather Due For Big Game

Fair and warmer weather for the Georgia Tech-North Carolina football game today was predicted Thursday by C. F. von Hermmann, meteorologist of the United States weather bureau, here.

Promise of sunny skies and cool breezes with the thermometer registering a slightly higher temperature, was made by the weather man, with the mercury due to range between 50 and 70 degrees.

The highest temperature Thursday was registered at 68 degrees and the lowest at 50.

STATE CANAL BODY TO MEET OCT. 21 AT JACKSONVILLE

Waycross, Ga., October 10.—(Special.)—Judge Harry D. Reed, of Waycross, vice chairman of the Georgia canal commission, and Dr. William M. Folks, of Waycross, member of the executive board of the commission, will go to Jacksonville Monday, October 21, to attend a hearing at the United States engineer's office in regard to a proposed waterway route from Cumberland sound in Georgia, across Florida to the Mississippi river. It is expected that all members of the Georgia canal commission will be present.

LAGRANGE COLLEGE SELECTS ANNUAL SUPERLATIVES

LaGrange, Ga., October 10.—(Special.)—In a "Who's Who" election at LaGrange college, the following girls were selected to represent their college: Miss Mary Grimes, of LaGrange, prettiest; Miss Sara King, Rome, most charming; Miss Virginia Mosley, Danielsville, most popular; Miss Catherine Chestnut, Tifton, best all around; Miss Agnes Richardson, Fairmont, most athletic; Miss Mildred Traylor, LaGrange, most intellectual.

Miss King is president of the French Club, Miss Virginia Mosley is business manager of the college annual; Miss Catherine Chestnut is president of the Student Government Association; Miss Agnes Richardson is president of the Athletic Association; Miss Mildred Traylor is editor of the annual, "The Quadrangle," and a member of the Honor Club, composed of girls making the highest record in their classes.

LAST RITES TODAY FOR ROME VICTIM OF MILL ACCIDENT

Rome, Ga., October 10.—(Special.)—Funeral services will be held Friday morning at Wax for Elmer Sweater Swann, 22, who was killed in an accident at the American Chatillon mills here late last night. The young man was working upon the night shift and had gone into a mixing vat to repair the machine.

In some manner, the machinery started again and he was crushed before assistance could be given him. Taken to a hospital in a mangled condition he died 40 minutes later. He is survived by his mother, five sisters and one brother.

HAZARDS ARE HIT BY MERCER GROUP

Macon, Ga., October 10.—(Special.)—The Mercer student tribunal began functioning under a revised constitution and charter which went into effect with the beginning of the present school year. The new constitution calls for more serious punishment in hazing.

The tribunal is composed of two freshmen, four sophomores, and six juniors. The judge, Clayton Calloway, Jackson; solicitor, C. A. Baldwin, Macon; and defense counsel, D. H. Middlebrooks, Macon, are all selected from the senior class.

ALBANY KIWANIANS INVITE THOMASVILLE

Thomasville, Ga., October 10.—(Special.)—Kiwanians of Albany have invited the Kiwanis Club of Thomasville, to visit their city during the autumn, and participate in an inter-club meeting. The local club has accepted the invitation, and now plans to journey to Albany for the joint meeting in November. The invitation of the Albany club included the request that the members of the Thomasville club have charge of the program for that occasion, and this wish was acceded to by the local Kiwanians.

Spence post, American Legion, of Thomasville, has voted to offer medals to be awarded at the close of the school year of 1929-30 to certain outstanding pupils in each of the schools in Thomas county. The medals will be given for excellence in all departments, and general manifestation of worthiness.

Good Positions Obtained With Important Firms By Southern Business College Students

Second Fall Term Enrollment Period Begins
October 14

Will you be among those young people who are planning to begin their business careers at the Southern Business College during the week of October 14th?

A year ago the young men and young women, whose names are given below as having recently gone to good positions, were considering the advisability of taking business courses. Now, they have their commercial training behind them and are well on the way to Business Success. They did not waste precious hours and days procrastinating the important period for preparation to perform the work they are now doing and for which they are the recipients of "pay envelopes" every thirty days.

Start your business training next week—Monday or Tuesday or Wednesday—and you'll only be a year behind those whose names are given below, and ahead of those who will still defer this important matter.

Miss Dean Tribble, with Farmers' Union Warehouse Co., Conyers, Ga.; Miss Martha Jacobs, with International Agricultural Corp.; Miss Lillie Bellingrath, with National Library Bindery; W. B. Lemming, with Southern Railway Company; Lewis Jennings, with Rhodes-Wood Furniture Co.; Miss Otera Moody, with Security Bankers Finance Corporation; Miss Aline Pickle, with Ullie Jones Advertising Agency; Miss Grace Gossett, with Spellman Office Service; Miss Katherine Lane, with Southern Co-operative Realty Co.; Powell Perdue, with Bull Dog Electric Co.; Miss Marjorie Singleton, with W. W. Brown Publishing Co.

Miss Gladys Farr, with Massachusetts Bonding & Insurance Co.; Miss Gertrude Webb, with Home Insurance Co.; Miss Glynce Donald, with Clyde L. Turner Realty Co.; Miss Margaret Grimes, with Re-Insurance Corporation of America; Miss Louise Carver, with Prudential Insurance Co.; Miss Charlie Caudle, with Security Bankers Finance Corporation; Henry Winkle, with Weekly Elevator Co.; Miss Bess Christian, with Universal Credit Co.; Miss Mozelle McCollough, with Lane Drug Co.; Miss Mabel Beardsley, with Lyon & King; Miss Marjorie Durrett, with Conn Atlanta Corporation; Miss Dorothy Newton, with Reuben A. Garland.

The following have also accepted positions with prominent firms: Misses Jessie Wager, Gladys Hancock, Catherine Christian, Jessie Phillips.

L. W. ARNOLD, President.

Bernice Bernhardt, Zeta Fox, Maye Runk, and Florence Pounds.

Today the ever-present questions which young men and women must face are: "What are you, and what can you do?" Ancestry doesn't count for much. Longing to succeed doesn't count for much unless it is predicated on a foundation of ability and effort.

All lines of business open their doors gladly to trained helpers—but without training there is hardly the remotest chance for any young man or young woman to make even a start toward a successful business career.

Herbert Kaufman is, perhaps, the greatest writer of this day and generation.

If all the world would read his article of October 9th date, let his suggestions sink into their brains and fingers in conformity with his admonitions, there would be more successes and fewer failures in the future.

Be somebody—set an example; aim high and turn on the propeller of determination, and then you can't keep away Success.

Make the start at the Southern next week. Get catalog at once, which is free for the asking.

SINKING OF OIL FIELD $500,000 DAIRY PLANT TO BE ERECTED HERE

Texas Wells Are Threatened by Advancing Chasm.

Beaumont, Texas, October 10.—(AP)—Geologists observing the gradual sinking of the Sour Lake oil field were agreed tonight that the strange phenomenon, which has caused the disappearance within two days of 50 acres of land beneath the surface of rushing drainage waters, is the result of an undermining caused by drilling operations.

The center of the depressed area, which is in the northeast part of the oil field, east of Beaumont, was still sinking tonight. This central area covers about three acres. J. A. Myers, veteran oil operator at the famed Spindle Top field here and at the Sour Lake section, estimates the depth of this central depression to be close to 100 feet.

The sinking is on the site of the famous Shoestring section, which was drilled intensively immediately after the Spindle Top boom in 1901. During that time some of the upper strata were washed out in the process of drilling. Myers explained. As the sands appeared to be pocketed in harder formations, the cavities resulting from their removal evidently were not filled with water. Had they been filled with water the water might have formed a filler to brace the surface.

Cracks in the surface were observed late today encircling the crater as far as 1,000 feet from the center. No estimate can be made as to the ultimate extent of damage from the phenomenon. Production in the field has dropped approximately 80 per cent since the depression started.

The disturbance is not altogether new in this section of Texas, though the depression is much deeper and occurred more suddenly than any previous one. In the Goose Creek field more than 1,500 acres have been pro-

Penney Interests Also Consider Investment of Millions in Atlanta Store.

Immediate erection of a $500,000 dairy plant on Ponce de Leon avenue by the Foremost Dairy Products Company, Inc., and the possible investment of several millions in a department store by the J. C. Penney Company were indicated Thursday.

The new dairy plant will be among the largest and best equipped in the south. The Foremost company, which will erect it, is owned by J. C. Penney.

Announcement of the two projects was made Thursday by Burdett G. Lewis, president of the Foremost company. Officials of the Penney company, he said, are considering the erection of a large store here. If the project is carried out it will mean the employment of hundreds of people and the expenditure of several million dollars annually.

HOLDUP MEN ROB BANK MESSENGER OF $32,000 CASH

Salt Lake City, October 10.—(AP)—Two holdup men attacked A. G. Jackson, bank messenger, with tear gas bombs on the street here this afternoon, shot W. M. Rogers, a policeman, through the neck and escaped with $32,000 in cash.

Progressively sinking since 1917 until the drop has reached the extent of several feet.

Thirteen wells in the Sour Lake field had ceased flowing oil today, while the sinking had an opposite effect on another, which jumped its output from 10 to 200 barrels daily.

AUTOGYRO PLANE DAMAGED DURING PITCAIRN TESTS

Philadelphia, October 10.—(AP)—The American-built Spanish autogyro undergoing tests at the Pitcairn field at Hallowell, 18 miles north of this city, was damaged during a trial today. A report that the inventor of the machine, Juan De La Cierva, was injured was denied by G. S. Childs, executive vice president of the Pitcairn Cierva Autogyro Company.

Mr. Childs said that in making a landing a strut on the left side gave way, causing the machine to tip over. The left wing and the rotation vane were damaged, he said.

Britain Plans Safeguard Against France in Event Nation Rejects Naval Cut

Will Not Be Bound If Paris Government Does Not Quit Building Subs
and Cruisers.

Paris, October 10.—(AP)—Insertion of a safeguard clause to protect the British naval position against that of France, and possibly that of Italy, in an eventual limitation of naval armaments, is being discussed by the great naval powers, according to information in diplomatic circles in Paris.

Great Britain is said to wish to protect herself in any agreement on naval limitation against the possible refusal of France to fall into line at the five-power conference in January.

The idea is that if France declines to discuss figures on naval tonnage at the conference, the British would hesitate to accept a definite naval treaty unless it includes a provision that Great Britain should no longer be bound by it if the French building program exceeds a stated figure.

The Associated Press correspondent was informed today that Japan, as well as the United States is ready to negotiate the final naval treaty; for Japan, which holds that sea lane and air armaments are interdependent, believes none the less that they can be dealt with piece by piece.

Japan will soon begin conversations with Washington and London for the right to have a naval strength in proportion of seven against ten and ten for the United States and Great Britain.

Japan's Views.
The ratio for battleships at the Washington conference was 6-10-10, but it is reported here that Japan will insist on a ratio of 7-10-10 in cruisers with the same restriction in tonnage. Japan has shown in demanding general parity with Great Britain.

If the United States enters into an agreement at London to possess eighteen 10,000-ton cruisers, Japan will want twelve.

The strength of Japan is big enough in a matter of interest to England also. The British do not want to be behind Japan in this class of vessels.

Diplomatic circles here continued to speculate keenly on the trouble which might arise at the London conference over the question of submarines, in which France, as well as Italy and, to a lesser degree, Japan, is understood to be firmly against the abolition of undersea craft.

U-Boat Obstacle.
Jacques Louis Duménil, reporter of the naval budget for 1930 in the chamber of deputies and minister of marine in one of the Herriot cabinets, told the Associated Press in an exclusive interview today that the scrapping of submarines, if insisted upon by Great Britain and the United States, would prove an unsurmountable obstacle to agreement on a naval disarmament program as far as France was concerned.

M. Duménil said that France did not desire and was not prepared to discuss or criticize an agreement reached by Great Britain and the United States concerning the parity of their navies. He believes this is rather aimed at maintaining the status quo than at reducing their navies.

"But at no time and under no consideration, could France accept the principle of abolition of submarines, or even lose the liberty of building all the submarines she judges indispensable to her defense."

"To France, submarines represent not an element of offensive warfare, but the defense of our shores and overseas possessions."

"They are the only effective weapon for preventing a power enjoying a great superiority in surface craft from imposing its naval domination upon other nations."

"I have no doubt that the French parliament will persist in manifesting the sentiment which qualified parliamentary committees have never missed a chance of affirming on this subject."

DISTRICT REPORTS FEATURE SECOND
DAY OF A. M. E. MEET

Quittman, Ga., October 10.—(Special.)—The second day's session of the South Georgia annual conference of the A. M. E. church was held here today in Bethel A. M. E. church.

The conference opened with Bible institute work conducted by Dr. C. G. Wiley, pastor of St. Paul A. M. E. church, Macon. Dr. C. A. Wingfield, presiding elder of the Rome district, North Georgia conference, delivered a lecture to the body of ministers on the "New Testament Scriptures."

Much of the day was consumed in district reports, followed by pastors who told of the spiritual, numerical gain and financial success of their charges during the year.

IN FATAL SHOOTING OF FLORIDA MAN

St. Augustine, Fla., October 10.—(AP)—A coroner's jury, investigating the death from bullet wounds of Layton Highsmith, of Moultrie, Fla., here today, this afternoon accepted the plea of self-defense offered by W. L. Herrie, the dead man's nephew, and freed him from blame.

Highsmith was shot during a running fight with Herrie, a laundry employee, at the latter's house early today. The fight, which brought serious knife wounds to Herrie from a pocket knife in the hands of his uncle, culminated in a three-hour argument over the return to her father's home of Miss Angie Highsmith, 26.

AIR TOURISTS ARRIVE AT AUGUSTA TODAY

Municipal Airport, Greenville, S. C., October 10.—(United News.)—Twenty-six of the twenty-eight contestants in the national air tour arrived here late today, after a 152-mile cross-country jaunt from Winston-Salem, N. C., the noon-day stop. Two planned to make time at Richmond today, were expected to rejoin the tour tomorrow as it resumes its flight to Augusta, Ga.

A Curtiss Condor ship, piloted by J. W. Meelan, also was held in Richmond by engine trouble.

Al Krupich damaged the landing gear of his Moth on the field here and may still require assistance in the Edsel Ford trophy, though mechanics worked feverishly to repair the damage.

Wiley Post pushed his Lockheed to turn the fastest time for the Winston-Salem-to-Greenville lap. His mark for the 152 miles was 44.18 minutes. Official standing of the first 15 contestants in the aerial derby following today's flight is:

J. Livingston, Waco.
N. E. Zeller, Ford.
D. M. Hackman, Fairchild.
George Haldeman, Bellanca.
W. H. Crosswell, Conquest.
J. C. Cone, Command-Aire.
Mrs. Keith Miller, Fairchild.
Earl Rowland (W. Meelan), Conquest.

Tomorrow morning the tour continues to Augusta, Ga., for a noon-day stop and thence to Jacksonville, Fla., to spend the night. They reach Atlanta Saturday afternoon.

The Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce will give a buffet dinner-dance at 7 o'clock Saturday night at the Atlanta Athletic Club in honor of the members of the Ford Reliability Tour air fleet, who will arrive in the city Saturday afternoon.

Friday's luncheon of the Jaycees at the Chamber of Commerce building was turned into a booster meeting for Saturday night's entertainment. Tickets for the affair are available at Junior Chamber headquarters.

COUNCIL ACCEPTS

$250,000 would be placed on the site. The Moore paper called for a 10-day period in which to file its answer, but it was amended by Alderman J. Charlie Murphy, of the 11th, to give the successful bidder 30 days.

MacDonald Well Satisfied With Result of Talks With Hoover on Navy Cut

Premier Reaches New York for Last Three
pects Early Agreement.

BY JAMES L. WEST.
Associated Press Staff Writer.

New York, October 10.—(AP)—Convinced that there will be a satisfactory harvest of results from his visits to President Hoover, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald arrived here today for a three-day stay before crossing into Canada for conferences with Mackenzie King, the Canadian premier.

Halting on his trip from Washington at Philadelphia to have with him at luncheon the physicians who attended him in his illness at that city two years ago, the British statesman said he was "going away content."

He also expressed his delight with the "great response" the American people and the American press had given to the attempt of the president to bring himself to arrive at a mutual understanding.

With no engagements arranged for tonight, the prime minister looked forward to some long hours of rest. He appeared to be a little tired after the six days of conferences and social engagements which he had spent throughout the days and far into the nights at Washington.

One of the messages received by the prime minister was from Hermina Mueller, the German chancellor, thanking him on behalf of the German government and people for his generous tribute to the late Gustav Stresemann, German minister for foreign affairs, in the address Mr. MacDonald made before the senate last Monday.

Except at Baltimore and Philadelphia, the prime minister remained in the private car, but Isbell made an inspection of the special train, consisting of two Pullmans, a luxurious lounge diner and a baggage coach. In the last one he talked to the engineer, W. H. (Bill) Markey, over the train telephone.

Three public appearances of the prime minister have been arranged for tonight, but Saturday and Sunday have been kept free for his own private engagements. Monday he will leave for Niagara Falls and Tuesday cross into Canada.

After dinner and beginning at 9 p. m. tonight, the premier will speak to a radio audience in both this country, Canada and Great Britain.

Isbell came back to New York with her father today with two new and thrilling experiences to her credit—a continuous because of the alleged mental and physical inability of the defendant, now a patient at the Allen sanatorium at Milledgeville, to stand trial, the district attorney, the government, will strenuously oppose the move. Additional summons to government witnesses in Georgia, Tennessee and Florida have been issued, it was learned.

The mail fraud case against Manley grew out of his operations as head of the defunct Bankers' Trust Company of Atlanta. Numerous continuances in federal court because of his alleged physical condition, he was tried and convicted for fraudulent insolvent in the state courts, but obtained a reversal in the United States supreme court on the grounds that the Georgia law involved in the prosecution is unconstitutional.

MEMBERS' ABSENT ROLL IS CALLED IN CITY COUNCIL

Council placed into operation one of the provisions of new council rules Thursday afternoon when it ordered a roll call at the end of the session to see which members were absent.

The count showed eight absentees, some of whom were forced to leave the lengthy session to attend other engagements.

ONLY ONE THOMAS COUNTY VET AT MEET

Thomasville, Ga., October 10.—(Special.)—Judge William M. Jones, of the Thomas county court of ordinary, was the lone representative of this county at the Confederate Veterans' reunion in Quitman this week.

By actual count there are now in this county but one-half score of the old veterans living, and a majority of them are too feeble to undertake to attend reunions, or other celebrations that take them from their homes.

New York, October 10.—(AP)—Convinced that there will be a satisfactory harvest of results from his visits to President Hoover, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald arrived here today for a three-day stay before crossing into Canada for conferences with Mackenzie King, the Canadian premier.

Halting on his trip from Washington at Philadelphia to have with him at luncheon the physicians who attended him in his illness at that city two years ago, the British statesman said he was "going away content."

He also expressed his delight with the "great response" the American people and the American press had given to the attempt of the president to bring himself to arrive at a mutual understanding.

With no engagements arranged for tonight, the prime minister looked forward to some long hours of rest. He appeared to be a little tired after the six days of conferences and social engagements which he had spent throughout the days and far into the nights at Washington.

One of the messages received by the prime minister was from Hermina Mueller, the German chancellor, thanking him on behalf of the German government and people for his generous tribute to the late Gustav Stresemann, German minister for foreign affairs, in the address Mr. MacDonald made before the senate last Monday.

Except at Baltimore and Philadelphia, the prime minister remained in the private car, but Isbell made an inspection of the special train, consisting of two Pullmans, a luxurious lounge diner and a baggage coach. In the last one he talked to the engineer, W. H. (Bill) Markey, over the train telephone.

Three public appearances of the prime minister have been arranged for tonight, but Saturday and Sunday have been kept free for his own private engagements. Monday he will leave for Niagara Falls and Tuesday cross into Canada.

After dinner and beginning at 9 p. m. tonight, the premier will speak to a radio audience in both this country, Canada and Great Britain.

Isbell came back to New York with her father today with two new and thrilling experiences to her credit—a continuous because of the alleged mental and physical inability of the defendant, now a patient at the Allen sanatorium at Milledgeville, to stand trial, the district attorney, the government, will strenuously oppose the move. Additional summons to government witnesses in Georgia, Tennessee and Florida have been issued, it was learned.

The mail fraud case against Manley grew out of his operations as head of the defunct Bankers' Trust Company of Atlanta. Numerous continuances in federal court because of his alleged physical condition, he was tried and convicted for fraudulent insolvent in the state courts, but obtained a reversal in the United States supreme court on the grounds that the Georgia law involved in the prosecution is unconstitutional.

FARM MORTGAGES IN GEORGIA SHOW $10,578,000 GAIN

Farm mortgage indebtedness in the United States increased from January 1, 1925, to January 1, 1928, by $108,000,000, while over the same period the total for Georgia increased $10,578,000, according to figures announced by the bureau of agricultural economics, United States department of agriculture, in a bulletin received here Thursday.

Comparing Georgia with surrounding states, the government table indicated that on January 1, 1928, Georgia's total farm mortgage indebtedness was $100,683,000; Alabama, $61,403,000; Florida, $35,561,000; South Carolina, $63,059,000; and Tennessee, $108,414,000.

Georgia's total mortgage debt on owner-operated farms ran to a total of $57,294,000 for January 1, 1928, against $55,826,000 January 1, 1925. The total on tenant-operated farms was $38,590,000 January 1, last year, compared with $30,753,000 three years before. This state had a total mortgage debt on manager-operated farms on January 1, 1928, amounting to $6,794,000, against $5,446,000 January 1, 1925.

The bulletin explained that all the figures are estimates.

DID NOT BELIEVE SARGON COULD DO SO MUCH FOR HIM

Complications of Eight Years' Standing Promptly Overcome by New Medicine, Says Thompson—Gains 6 Pounds.

"If anybody had told me that three bottles of Sargon would have ended my eight years' suffering with constipation and other ailments it brought me back to health, I would not have believed one word of it. That's exactly what it did, and gave me a six-pound gain in weight besides, and I don't believe any other medicine in the world would have done it."

WM. A. THOMPSON.

"When a man is in the condition I was he will try anything and everything he thinks will help him, and that's the way it was with me. I don't exaggerate when I say that during those eight years I tried dozens and dozens of different medicines—and was taking them pretty much all the time, too. I was in a worse state of order and the next thing I knew I was in about as bad fix with indigestion as I was with constipation. It seemed like everything I ate disagreed with me, and I didn't know what little I did eat. I had pains in the back of my neck nearly all the time, and a soreness in my side that caused me a lot of suffering. I don't believe anybody ever had more trouble with a sluggish liver than I did, and it seemed like nothing I took would get it working right. Headaches bothered me a lot, I lost weight and many a day it was all I could do to stay on the job."

"People kept telling me about Sargon and I read statements from so many good folks in Atlanta praising it so highly that I finally decided to give it a trial. It wasn't but a few days after I started it before I felt a whole lot better. Then I seemed to grow stronger and to feel better every day. The next thing I knew I was eating three square meals a day, and everything agreed with me fine. I haven't taken but three bottles, but I have gained six pounds and am feeling like a different man. The pains in my neck and the soreness in my side is gone and I have plenty of strength and energy now. I sleep fine and enjoy every minute of my time whether I am at home or on the job."

"Sargon Pills beat anything I ever saw! My constipation of eight years' standing is over and the way these pills ended my biliousness and reconditioned my liver is something to talk about. They are mild and never nauseate or upset, but they are the best laxative by all odds that I ever took, and I am certainly a believer in this Sargon treatment."

The above statement was recently made by Wm. A. Thompson, 111 Woodlawn Ave., Atlanta, Mr. Thompson is sign cutter for the Walter Wilson Sign Co., 5th St., N. W. The Sargon Man is at Jacobs' main store, 14 Marietta St., where he is meeting the public and explaining the merits of this celebrated new scientific product. Sargon may be obtained at all Jacobs' drug stores throughout Atlanta.—(adv.)

'Dumb Bell' Elephant Gives Trainer Lots of Trouble

Smart as elephants are known to be, there are "dumb-bells" among them.

Take Joe for example. Joe is the 12-month-old youngster of the "Baby Bunting" elephants who are coming here to devour peanuts and perform with the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus. Joe just can't learn. Or it may be that Joe simply won't learn.

Frankly, George Denman, keeper of the 43 elephants with the greatest show on earth, has his doubts. So he is determined that Joe be given every possible chance.

"You see," Denman explains, "after I had taught the 12 babies to do a few simple tricks, I decided to form an orchestra. Marcella learned to play a horn in no time at all. Mary was soon beating a drum and Bingo just loves to play the cymbals. It was decided to teach Joe the bass-viol and so I had a small one made for him. But do you suppose he would practice? Never a bit. He must have thought the thing was a bale of hay because he tried to eat it. And now he simply won't practice unless he's watched. Acts as though he didn't know which was the bow and which the fiddle. So what do I do? Why I just put Big Babe in charge of the little rascal. Babe, you see, has been playing bass fiddles in elephant orchestras for years. Maybe she can make him learn."

But whether Joe has graduated by the time the big show arrives is of no great consequence for, with or without him, the novelty of two all baby troupes of elephants vieing in performance with three herds of big ones promises to be a great treat for the youngsters. There are also five rooms of performing horses introduced for the first time in one display. This has been made possible by adding two extra rings which are fixed on the tops of two elevated stages. The big show is to exhibit here Tuesday, October 15. Tickets will be on sale October 14 at Jacobs Drug Store, 14 Marietta street.

MERCY IS FAVORED IN SEVEN CASES BY PRISON BOARD

Executive clemency was recommended in seven cases, two of them from Fulton county, to Governor L. G. Hardman by the state prison commission Thursday. In 21 other cases a favorable recommendation was declined.

D. Cummings, Muscogee, larceny of auto; G. T. Hamby, Fulton, burglary; Philip Langley, Fulton, robbery; Ralph Lloyd, Fulton, burglary; W. J. Grier, Fulton, forgery; Thaxton Williams, Clay, misdemeanor; Nelson Parks, Bibb, burglary; Harry W. Stegall, Chatham, manslaughter; Tommie Lee Stanford, Baldwin, assault to rape; J. B. Dent, Wayne, shooting another; Leo McIntosh, Bibb, murder, and Price Watson, Bibb, murder.

NEW GEORGIA CODE URGED BY GILBERT, COMMISSION HEAD

Associate Justice S. Price Gilbert, of the Georgia supreme court, who is chairman of the newly-created code commission, declared Thursday, following the first meeting of the commission, that Georgia should have a new code.

The code commission, he said, reached this conclusion after preliminary discussion of its program Friday.

No definite steps have yet been taken, but Gilbert indicated that a tentative plan of work had been outlined, but was subject to approval. Various angles of the commission's problem, that of simplifying the present code, will have to be threshed out before any announcement can be made, he said.

The code commission was created under an act of the recent legislature.

"EVE" TO BE TOPIC OF LECTURE TODAY BY REV. HIGH MOOR

At Friday morning's lecture at 10:30 o'clock at St. Luke's Episcopal church, Peachtree, and Alexander streets, the Rev. N. R. High Moor will speak on the subject "Eve." This will be the second lecture in the series "The Message of the Men and Women in the Bible," sponsored by the women's auxiliary. The lecture will last for 30 minutes and the public is cordially invited.

SOUTHERN PURCHASES 5,000 FREIGHT CARS

Purchase of 5,000 new freight cars by the Southern Railway System, to be delivered by the builders in time for service during the winter months, was announced Thursday by R. B. Pegram, vice president of the Southern. The order includes 3,500 double-sheathed, steel frame automobile box cars, 40 feet, 8 inches in length and 40-ton capacity, and 1,500 all-steel hopper-bottom coal cars of 35 tons capacity.

John K. Ottley, Jr., Tells Advertising Club of Air Mail.

In its favorable situation, Atlanta is destined to become the principal commercial aviation center in the southeast and one of the great aviation centers in the country, John K. Ottley, Jr., manager in this city for Pittman Aviation, Inc., declared in an address before the Advertising Club at its regular weekly luncheon meeting Thursday at the Wincoff hotel.

Mr. Ottley, who was the principal speaker at the meeting, reviewed the progress of aviation and the increase in the use of air mail, with the part it played in the general scheme of business where speed and time-saving were essential factors. An interesting fact brought out by Mr. Ottley was that the regular air lines touching Candler field had more than 8,000,000 flying miles to their credit for the first six months of this year.

This meeting was the last that the club will hold at the Wincoff. In the future they will be held at the Piedmont. The program for the next meeting, it was announced, will consist entirely of entertainment and social features. A committee composed of Sam Dull, of the Atlanta Journal, as chairman; Lorenzo Jones, of The General Outdoor Advertising Company; Herbert Porter, advertising director of The Atlanta Constitution; A. T. Swanson, of the S. & G. Studios, and T. W. McAllister, editorial director of the W. R. C. Smith publications.

E. V. Hungerford, attendance chairman, announced that the room where the meeting would be held would accommodate only 85 persons, and as it was probable that the program would be of such a nature as to attract a large crowd, advised against any delay in making reservations for places.

Plans to make a new membership roster were explained by L. N. Moore, membership chairman, and hope was expressed that each one belonging to the organization would take an active part in promoting interest in the club.

Bruce Moran, chairman of the club's committee on judging windows in the Light's Golden Jubilee contest, as announced that his assistants would be Stanley MacArthur, of the General Outdoor Advertising Company; Herbert Porter, advertising director of The Atlanta Constitution; A. T. Swanson, of the S. & G. Studios, and T. W. McAllister, editorial director of the W. R. C. Smith publications.

WINNETT COUNTY FAIR TO BE OPENED MONDAY FOR WEEK

Lawrenceville, Ga., October 10.—(Special.)—The Gwinnett county agricultural and industrial fair will throw open its gates Monday and run through the week, to Saturday night. The fair managers have just completed a new building containing more than 20 booths that will be known as the Gwinnett County Union Schools buildings. It will also be used for the 4-H Club girls.

The Fair Association has offered prizes totaling more than $700 for premiums, and in addition it is going to give away $50 in gold and four pure-bred Poland China gilts. The best general display of farm products carries the largest premium, $60; the second best display gets a premium of $30; third best, $10.

TWO SENSATIONAL new achievements in RADIO-PHONOGRAPH reproduction

For the first time... music from the air or records... with the amazing realism of the Screen-Grid Radiola or the incomparable Super-Heterodyne.

Here is front page news for every lover of fine music... the year's greatest offering of RCA engineers. For the first time, Radio-Phonograph combinations in Screen-Grid and Super-Heterodyne models... complete home instruments of the finest type... designed, built and guaranteed by RCA! Here is music from the air that will astound you with its superb fidelity... music from records that equals only the matchless performance of the Radiola!

Radiola 47 is the newest RCA all-electric development in Screen-Grid Radio combined with the Electrical Phonograph in one exquisitely designed cabinet. It is the latest triumph of the same RCA engineers who developed the Screen-Grid Radiotron and the Screen-Grid Radio Circuit.

Radiola 67—the Super-Heterodyne model—is conceded everywhere to be the last word in Radio and Phonograph reproduction. The Super-Heterodyne is recognized by all as the finest achievement of the Radio art. Combined in a strikingly handsome cabinet with the electrical phonograph, this remarkable instrument becomes the outstanding triumph in complete home entertainment!

RCA Radiola 47—The newest RCA "all-electric" development in Screen-Grid radio combined with the phonograph. Radio and phonograph are in the same improved built-in Electro-Dynamic reproducer. "Music from the air or record." $275 (less Radiotrons).

RCA Radiola 67—The new Super-Heterodyne combination with RCA Electro-Dynamic loudspeaker giving electrical reproduction of records. The complete home instrument; brings to you at will "Music from the air or record." $690 (less Radiotrons).

Both Radiolas 47 and 67 embody the famous RCA electro-dynamic speakers which reproduce music as well as voice—in any desired volume—with a fidelity unequalled by any other method of sound reproduction. You get the freedom from distorting noises and electrical hum without the costly sacrifice of loss in fidelity and tone range... without that weakening of power and dulling of low and high notes which owners of ordinary radio sets must suffer when hum is reduced in defiance of electrical research and experience.

Here are the instruments of the future. We invite you to see and hear them at your nearest RCA dealer. A single demonstration will give you a new conception of Radio and Phonograph enjoyment. It will strengthen your belief more than ever in RCA as the pre-eminent builder and designer of fine Radio instruments.

The new Radiolas may be purchased on the convenient RCA Time Payment Plan which enables you to enjoy the world's finest music from Radio or Phonograph while you make easy monthly payments.

ROOSEVELT SETS DAY FOR 'LIGHT'S JUBILEE'

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, who will arrive in Atlanta today to attend Governor's Day at the Southeastern Fair and later to witness the North Carolina-Georgia Tech football game, was one of the first governors to issue a proclamation setting aside October 21 for observance of "Light's Golden Jubilee" in honor of Thomas A. Edison's invention of the incandescent electric light 50 years ago.

In his proclamation, made public today by the local general committee in charge of plans for Atlanta's participation, the New York executive calls upon "all the living beneficiaries of the outstanding invention to signalize the 50th anniversary of the culmination of the research and efforts of Edison, foremost in the broad, uncharted field of electrical experimentation."

Declaring that his native state, which was the scene of the development of the incandescent light, had "profited commensurately with the rest of the world by accomplishments of the Great Edison, who literally lighted the path of humanity," Mr. Roosevelt urged the public to celebrate the event and that this tribute be supplemented with the illuminating on the night of October 21 of all public buildings.

In addition to Governor Roosevelt, chief executive of almost every other state in the Union have issued proclamations for observance of the event by state-wide celebrations and appropriate exercises, while mayors of virtually every city and town in the country have likewise given official approval of similar celebrations in their jurisdictions.

GOVERNOR TO GO TO ATHENS TODAY FOR YALE GAME

Governor L. G. Hardman and his family will leave Friday at 11 o'clock for Athens to attend a reception at the University of Georgia on the eve of the Georgia-Yale football game. Governor Hardman will be accompanied by several officers of his military staff.

At 8:30 o'clock the governor and his wife will be hosts to Governor Bibb Graves, of Alabama, and Mrs. Homer C. Parker, Colonel John C. Woodward, Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. Lyons B. Joel, Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. C. H. Neisler, Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. Frank T. Kidd, Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. H. A. Carriers, and Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. H. C. Connel.

CLEMENCY GIVEN TO ROBERT PETTIT AND G. H. GILLON

Acting on recommendation of the state prison board Governor L. G. Hardman Thursday extended executive clemency to George H. Gillon and Robert Pettit.

Gillon was given a full pardon while Pettit's sentence was commuted to present service.

The governor's orders were immediately mailed to the camps where the men were serving. Gillon is at Monroe, while Pettit has been serving in Walton county.

Gillon, an Atlanta attorney, pleaded guilty to a charge of embezzlement in December, 1928, and was sentenced to from two and one-half years to four years.

Pettit figured as the principal in a sensational homicide case in 1928. While shooting through a sign board he killed young Paul Hulme, Tech High school student. He was sentenced to from one to two years. Both petitions for clemency were founded on ill health and past records, although Pettit urged his extreme youth in addition.

Legion To Meet

The drum and bugle corps of Atlanta post American Legion have been detailed to do the entertaining at a meeting of the post at 8 o'clock tonight in Legion hall.

FUNDS ARE SOUGHT TO RELIEVE COURTS

Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars Asked by Attorney-General.

Washington, October 10.—(AP)—Increased appropriations of several hundred thousand dollars have been recommended to the budget bureau by the attorney-general's office to relieve congestion in the federal courts.

Attorney-General Mitchell announced today he had requested appropriations to provide 30 assistant district attorneys and also additional clerks and marshals. The entire appropriation, he added, probably would be less than $1,000,000. Mitchell said approximately 29 per cent of the cases in federal courts had not been touched in recent years and that additional help was necessary. He did not make public the districts for which aid was requested, saying first it would be determined whether the appropriation could be obtained.

Recommendation also was made for increased pay of the assistant district attorneys. The attorney-general said the present salary averaged about $3,100 and that he hoped to raise the salaries to $3,300 or $3,400.

He said there was no use hunting for criminals if the federal courts were not able to handle the cases, adding that when the cases were extended over long periods the witnesses often disappeared.

Prohibition, the attorney-general said, has had a good deal to do with the congestion of the dockets.

Deputy Declared In Contempt; Fined And Given Lecture

Refusal of R. O. Walters, deputy marshal of municipal court of Atlanta, serving as a ticket taker at the fair, to permit Deputy Sheriff G. H. Howard, Jr., to enter the Southeastern Fair and serve a court summons without a ticket Thursday morning drew from Judge John D. Humphries of Fulton superior court, a scathing rebuke.

Judge Humphries fined Walters $25 for contempt of court, and criticized severely the practice of county employees working at the fair while courts are busy. Walters was working for the fair while on vacation, it was said. Judge Humphries pointed out that summer is the time for vacations and that vacations are meant for rest and not for county employees to hire out to someone else.

WIDOW OF J. G. SCRIPPS ASKS PART OF FORTUNE

Claims Share of Wealth Made by Chain of Newspapers.

Cincinnati, Ohio, October 10.—(AP)—The appeal of Mrs. Josephine Scripps, of Miramar, Cal., from a federal court decision denying her claim of more than $5,000,000 in the estate of her late father-in-law, E. W. Scripps, founder of the Scripps-Howard chain of newspapers, was before the United States district court of appeals today.

Mrs. Scripps, the widow of the late James G. Scripps, who served as editor-in-chief of the group of dailies, instituted suit in the federal district courts seeking an accounting and judgment of the elder Scripps' estate, but the case was dismissed by Judge Smith Hickenlooper. The hearing scheduled today was on her plea to reinstate the action.

The amount sought by Mrs. Scripps, her suit contends, is her husband's share of the increment accruing to her father-in-law during the management of the newspapers by the younger Scripps. She said her father-in-law agreed to share with his sons in the profits. Judge Hickenlooper, in dismissing her suit, said the purported agreement was not legally binding as the father kept to himself the final decision on how the profits should be divided.

Mrs. Scripps is represented by Charles Evans Hughes and John Weld Peck, of Cincinnati, former federal district judge. Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, is counsel for Robert Paine Scripps, named in the action as trustee of the Scripps estate.

BODY OF JERSEY SOCIAL LEADER FOUND BY SON

Kearny, N. J., October 10.—(AP)—The body of William J. Wilson, social leader here and former secretary of Otto H. Kahn, who had been missing since Monday, was found in his garage today. The engine of his automobile was running and death had been caused by carbon monoxide poisoning.

Police pronounced Wilson a suicide. They said he returned to his home some time this morning, while his distracted wife and son pressed a search for him and started the engine of one of the automobiles about 7 o'clock.

The body was discovered by Harvey Wilson, the dead man's 22-year-old son, who yesterday visited many of his father's friends in New York city in the hope of finding him. The elder Wilson had been employed by William R. Coe, New York millionaire, as secretary and was prominent locally as a lay churchman.

Police and members of the Wilson family declined to discuss a possible motive for suicide.

REWARD OF $500 IS OFFERED FOR MISSING CHILD

Ouray, Colo., October 10.—(AP)—A reward of $500 has been offered by Ouray county commissioners for the recovery of Alfred Hotchkiss, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Hotchkiss, near Ridgeway, who disappeared October 1.

The reward offer followed several days of intensive search for the child. The searchers at times numbering several hundred, a suggestion that the child was carried off by a mountain lion is scouted by the father and others, as no trace of such an animal was found in the vicinity of the Hotchkiss home.

FRENCH PRESIDENT LEAVES FOR VISIT TO BELGIAN KING

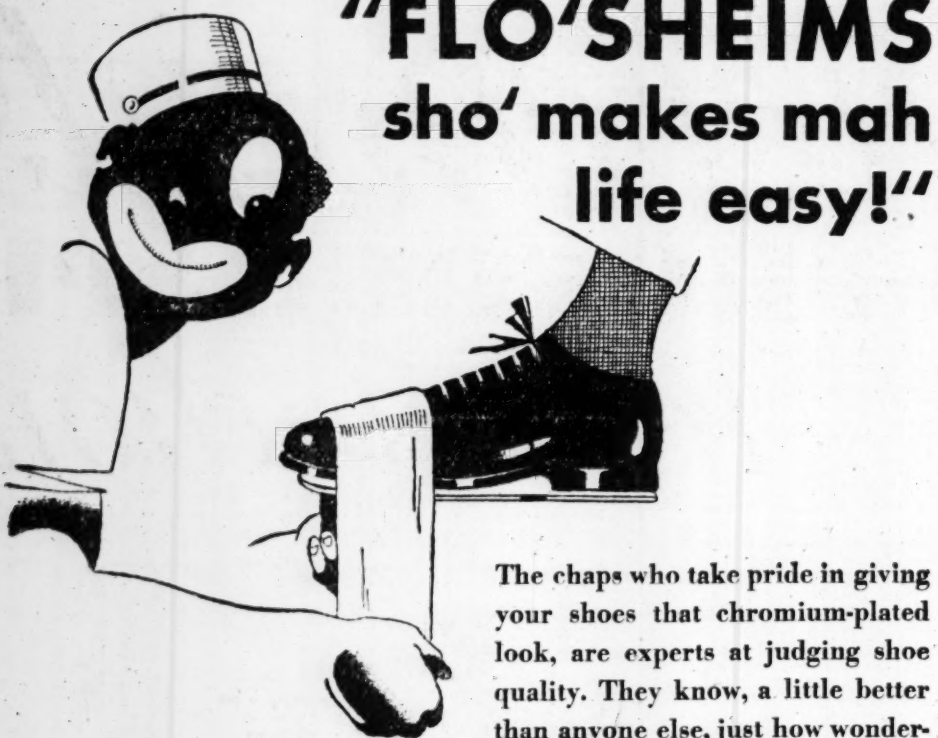

Paris, October 10.—(AP)—In regal pomp and splendor the president of France, Gaston Doumergue, set out for a four-day visit to Albert, king of the Belgians. He was accompanied on the royal train sent by King Albert by Premier Aristide Briand, chief of the Protocol Defouquiere, and members of his military establishment.

On the station platform many notes of the diplomatic corps wished him Godspeed. A detachment of the presidential guard gave him the presidential salute.

BRUSHED with the correct dentifrice, teeth that now are unattractive may become lustrous and beautiful—and in a very short time.

We waited many years before producing a tooth paste. During that time we studied every phase of dental caries (decay) and oral hygiene.

At last we produced a remarkable dentifrice—and gave it our name.

Now we ask you to try it—to give it a thorough trial. We ask you to note how naturally and gently it removes discoloration and tartar. Note, too, the wonderful luster it imparts to teeth.

That is due to modern ingredients which first cleanse, then polish. They are harder than tartar, so destroy it. But they are softer than enamel, therefore are harmless to it.

And remember that Listerine Tooth Paste costs you 25¢ not 50¢. A clear saving of about $3 per year. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo.

School Merger Election Overwhelmingly Opposed In Vote of City Council

Resolution Asking Fulton School Board Not To Ask Election Passes, 22 to 2.

Council Thursday afternoon passed a resolution, offered by Councilman Williams E. Saunders, of the twelfth ward, requesting the Fulton county board of education not to move for an election on a school merger proposal authorized at the last session of the Georgia legislature. The measure was passed, 22 for and 2 against.

At the same time it passed a paper presented by Councilman George Lyle, of the eleventh, asking counties and municipal incorporations within the limits of Greater Atlanta to name conference committees to work out a merger proposal plan.

While Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward, declared he did not know how he would vote if the school consolidation measure approved at the last session of the legislature were placed before him on a ballot, he asked why there should be any objection to permitting the people of the affected area from casting their votes on the issue. Mr. White and Councilman Robert M. Cobb, Jr., voted against the passage.

"I should like to know why all the fuss about the referendum," he declared. "Is it because opponents of the merger plan are afraid for the people to vote?"

Says Method Unfair.
Councilman Saunders stated that an election on the plan as offered, which would turn Atlanta schools over to the local board of education of Fulton county to operate, would be unfair and virtually disfranchise about 50,000 Atlantans living in Fulton county. He also added that the referendum might cause political friction which would prevent a merger on advantageous grounds to all systems concerned.

"I believe the merger is a step in the right direction and that the city and county governments should be merged," Mr. White added. "Grady hospital should be operated by Fulton county."

Council also passed a resolution, offered by Alderman W. Guy Dobbs, of the seventh ward, asking the board of education to relocate the city high school. This passed on a roll call, 22 for and 2 against, with Dr. T. L. Moon, of the second ward, and Councilman Saunders, of the twelfth, casting dissenting ballots.

At the last session council asked the board to study the advisability of establishing a consolidated school system in each of the high schools now operated by the city.

The Dobbs paper drew the fire of Alderman Ben T. Hunt and Councilman J. W. Rountree, of the third ward, but gained support from a large group of others. When the vote was taken opponents realized they were beaten and for the most part voted with the majority of council.

ALABAMA DEPUTY HELD FOR TRIAL IN DRY KILLING
Ashland, Ala., October 10.—(AP)—Deputy Sheriff Cecil Guthrie was indicted late today by a Clay county grand jury on charges of murder charges in connection with the slaying of Clarence Bailey, 18-year-old high school boy. The youth was slain while attempting to escape arrest on a liquor charge.

The officer had been free under $5,000 bond on murder charges following a preliminary hearing several days ago.

The shooting occurred on September 8.

The deputy testified at the preliminary hearing that he shot the Bailey youth accidentally while pursuing him.

He said he had fired three shots at the youth and that he stumbled as he fired a third shot, the accident causing the bullet to strike the fugitive.

7 JURIES CONVICT SINGLE PRISONER 7 TIMES ONE DAY
Wetumpka, Ala., October 10.—(AP)—William Nutter, who recently escaped from the Wetumpka prison after attacking two officers, has been tried seven times in criminal court here today on charges growing out of the escape and found guilty seven times by as many criminal court juries.

A separate jury tried Nutter on each charge, one following the other in rapid succession under the direction of Judge J. S. Smoot, who presided in each case.

Four of the juries found the escape guilty on charges of assault and battery on a jail guard, another on a charge of stealing a pistol, another for breaking out of jail, and the last on a charge of stealing an automobile. Sentence probably will be passed by Judge Smoot tomorrow.

Thin Underweight Men and Women Can Quickly Gain Needed Flesh
One Very Thin Man Gained 28 Pounds in Eight Weeks

Tens of thousands of exceedingly thin, weak, nervous men and women have taken McCoy's Tablets and put on pounds of good firm flesh.

Not only will McCoy's increase weight, but taken regularly will cause frail run-down men and women to grow stronger and more energetic.

If the millions of skinny, nervous men and women in America will start today and put their faith in McCoy's it is safe to say that at least 90 percent of them will gain weight, health and attractiveness in a few weeks.

So why not start today? Why not by him from T. A. Sims, outlining a similar plan.

Position of Venables.
Mr. Kelly said that the Venables were willing for the association to build the monument and would throw no obstructions in the way, but that any further change in the contract or extension of time would have to include the return of the monument. "We all want the monument," Mr. Kelly said. "I believe that the monument will be completed, and will be glad to advise the Venables finally of our new plan. I feel sure that if the association does not build the monument that it will be built, and there is assurance that funds will be available. The present work will not be destroyed by any contract entered into." Mr. Kelly said that he did not know whether or not the transfer of the association's rights to the city and counties would be legal under the present contract.

Under the motion offered by Mr. Green for appointment of the committee to confer with Mr. Moore, the committee is to present the final plan as drafted for the association to Mr. Moore and ask for concurrence.

Major Howell expressed the opinion that it was not the motive of the association to discuss the matter of the Venables, but that the association should deal with the Venables, as suggested by Mr. Moore, and let the new board take up the subject when the time came.

When the Moore plan had been approved by the directors, Mr. Willis called attention to his resignation as president, and appointed a nominating committee to select a new president. Mr. Willis also appealed to Mr. Willis on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce to serve at least until the membership meeting.

ISLAND AUTONOMY DECISIVELY BEATEN

ed independence after the Pacific possession had drawn up a constitution.

Democrats Are Beaten.
Immediately after the vote the senate turned down without a roll call another amendment by Senator Broussard which would apply American tariffs on Philippine imports and, pending independence, return of the revenue to the island treasury.

Disposal of the Philippine question permitted the tariff bill to slide back into an unobstructed path. Rarely at least. After some discussion, the democrats lost, by a vote of 42 to 37, an attempt to strike from the bill a provision forbidding existing law permitting manufacturers to protect appraisals and classifications of imported goods and intervene in the courts to pursue such complaints.

The section was opposed by democrats as another means to raise duties through boosting valuations of appraisers.

Senator Harris, Democrat, Mississippi, proposed to strike out the section, but six of his colleagues joined 36 republicans to retain the provision, or, at least, the U. S. C. included. Mr. Moore replied that he had conferred with Mr. Venable and that Mr. Venable had promised to give the plan serious consideration, though he would not say whether or not he would agree to it. "Mr. Venable said that his plan is the best suggested," Mr. Moore said.

To Use Convicts.
Mr. Moore said that costs of completing the memorial under his plan could be reduced by having convict labor do a great deal of the work.

Mr. D. C. C. included. Mr. Moore had talked with the Venable family, and had been informed that no concessions would be made to any person or persons, the U. S. C. included. Mr. Moore replied that he had conferred with Mr. Venable and that Mr. Venable had promised to give the plan serious consideration, though he would not say whether or not he would agree to it. "Mr. Venable said that his plan is the best suggested," Mr. Moore said.

As an alternative to Mr. Moore's plan, three courses open to the association were pointed out by Major Howell, who said that the association could either underwrite the memorial work, turn the project over to the Venables, or "act the part of the dog in the manger and allow no one to complete the work." Major Howell said that he is greatly impressed by Mr. Moore's plan, and that the new board suggested by the Venables would take up the project afresh and create confidence the association has not now.

Mr. Quinby said that she believes the U. S. C. will come in and help complete the project when peace and harmony is restored under the Moore plan.

Willis Plan Favored.
Mr. Willis said that a plan proposed by him recently had met with general approval of the board members, but that he had not heard from Mr. Venable in regard to the proposal. This plan would have the memorial work turned over to a committee of 25 persons to be appointed by Governor Hardman, Philip Alston, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Mr. Venable. Mr. Willis said that he saw two courses open to the association, to convey the title to the memorial site to a trusteeship under which the work would be done, or to turn the association's interests over to public authorities.

"It is time to take definite action and get the memorial work out of the muck and mire," declared Mr. Willis. "The history of the memorial has been similar to that of the Washington monument, which was finally completed when placed in the hands of congress. We have reached an impasse where we must take action. Mr. Moore's plan is the most feasible yet suggested to solve the problem. Mr. Alston said that he had received a letter from Walter B. Stenger, a member of the Fulton county commission, suggesting a plan similar to Mr. Moore's, except that the counties alone would take up the work. Mr. Willis told of another letter received

Attractions enhances toward the great climax of the final days.

Judges Are Busy.
Thursday saw judges busily awarding ribbons and the lesser honors in all divisions of the exhibits, while the day was likewise featured with two important openings, the dog show and the auto speed races on the great dirt oval.

There are 325 entries in the seventeenth annual Atlanta Kennel Club show. W. E. Baker, of New York, one of the best known judges in America, will judge all terrier classes except Boston, with Dr. T. H. Hinton, of Atlanta, passing on Boston terriers, and Paul Hamer, of Atlanta, judging other breeds.

Toy breeds, collies, Russian wolfhounds and English bulldogs will be judged at 10 o'clock. Foxes, terriers, while shepherd dogs will be judged tonight at 7 o'clock, with an exhibition of trained dogs following.

Other breeds will be judged on Saturday.

The fair this year has been marked by great advance in the excellence of practically all classes of exhibits, according to the comments of the famous judges in the various classes.

M. C. Wise, of Greenwood, S. C., poultry authority, said that the poultry show this year was four times as large as any previous year and in the quality of the exhibits was illustrative of the steady advance in the poultry industry in the southeast.

Champion Bull.
Awards in the Aberdeen-Angus beef cattle competition, announced Thursday, showed that H. A. Thompson, of Courtland, Ind., had won sweeping victories in many classes, taking high place in the senior champion bull, junior champion bull, grand champion bull and junior champion female. Dr. J. H. Hickborn, of Clemson, S. C., placed first in senior champion female and grand champion female. Five herds of beef cattle were entered, from Indiana, Tennessee, Ohio and Kentucky.

Highest honors for dairy cattle club showings went to Spaulding county, with John Harlow, county agent in charge. Muscogee county ranked second, with F. L. Jenkins, county agent, while third place went to Clarke county, with R. L. Vant, county agent, ranked fourth. Hugh Van Pelt, internationally known judge, was in charge of the show, which were 13 counties represented, with 136 head of calves exhibited, and that any one of the 13 would have taken first honors three or four years ago.

An exhibit which is attracting much attention is one of peacocks from the famous "Peacock Farm," grown in Mississippi. This is in the agricultural building, and is entered by the Monticello nursery, of Monticello, Fla., which recently bought the tree house, and is the only one of its kind in the south.

The nuts are exceptionally large, averaging only about 35 to the pound.

Calf Club Winners.
Bill Bennett, of Griffin, won the senior grand champion female award in the annual competition among calf club shows. Soon after his cow won the first prize she dropped a heifer calf, which will be entered in the fair next year.

Bennett is a son of Tap Bennett, superintendent of the cattle and swine show at the fair. He recently returned to the fair from Memphis, where he won third prize in the calf club competition and fourth prize in the open ring.

Bennett is the second successive year Bennett's cow has won the grand champion female award.

Miss Tallulah Odum, of Newton county, won the senior yearling prize in the calf club competition. She also won the prize for the best showman at the fair.

Bennett left Atlanta Thursday night for St. Louis, where his prize-winning cow will be entered in the National Dairy show next week.

Poultry Entries Win.
Emmeline Farms, of Hopewell Junction, N. Y., owned by J. C. Penney, won all the champion awards in the Guernsey cattle class Thursday. The senior champion bull, the senior champion bull, the junior, senior and grand champion females, all were won by the Emmeline Farms.

The Miller Farm, of Decatur, won several second and third places.

C. D. Graves, of Georgetown, Ky., won the senior grand champion bull, the senior, junior and grand champion female awards in the Hereford beef cattle class Thursday. The junior champion bull was won by the Lea Meadows Farm, of Nashville.

Poultry Winners.
Mrs. Ed Morgan, of Americus, Ga., won the Georgia Power Company trophy for the best rooster and also won the prize for best cockerel in the show and won mention for exhibiting a pen of Buff Orpingtons.

Mr. R. Pastel, of Ista Chatta, Fla., won the prize for the best display of poultry. He exhibited "White Minorcas." It was the first time his birds have been shown at the Southeastern Fair.

Mrs. T. U. Butts, of Columbus, exhibiting Rhode Island Reds, won second prize for best display. Third prize was won by Mrs. E. F. Jones, of Gallatin, Tenn.

A white leghorn cock owned by J. S. Allen, of Camilla, Fla., won a first prize. The best hen prize was won by the Crystal White Poultry farm, of Atlanta. It was a White Minorca.

Mrs. Ed Morgan's Buff Orpington cockerel won a first prize in its class, while the best pullet prize was won by Mrs. T. U. Butts, with a Rhode Island Red.

The best young hen prize was won by Mrs. Butts. The best old hen prize was won by Dr. W. Withers, of Atlanta, with Partridge Rocks.

Several new breeds of chickens, including the new Partridge Rock, which is a cross between the Rhode Island and the White Minorca, were shown for the first time. The Kiwi is a chicken that can't fly and can be kept in a pen with a wire only three or four feet high. A large number of Toulouse geese and turkeys were shown for the first time.

HEARINGS CONTINUE IN STRIKE

Officers Plead Self-Defense. Communism Becomes Issue.

Marion, N. C., October 10.—(AP)—The story of the gun fight that climaxed an unexpected strike at the Marion Manufacturing Company on October 2, was unfolded here today by deputy sheriffs who stoutly maintained that they fired only after they had been fired upon by the strikers.

Five men, all strikers, lost their lives as a result of the fight, 15 police officers were arrested charged with murder and between 50 and 60 strikers were charged with rioting, rebellion and resisting an officer. Two of the police officers have been released since Judge W. F. Harding, of the North Carolina superior court, began the state's investigation of the tragedy.

Brooks Robins, deputy, and one of those charged with murder testified today that he shot at a striker after the man had taken two shots at him. It was after this, he said, the shooting became general, lasting about 10 seconds.

Charlie Tate, deputy from Old Fort, a nearby mountain town, declared on the witness stand that he had shot dead a man who fired on him. He said that as a matter of fact two men had fired at him at the same time and it was only after this that he pulled his gun.

Allie Stepp, deputy sheriff, said that some women were at the back of the crowd instead of the front when the strikers gathered at the mill. Ordinarily, he said, strikers had pushed women forward when picking or when engaged in any altercation with police.

COMMUNISM MADE ISSUE IN STRIKERS' TRIAL.
Charlotte, N. C., October 10.—(AP)—The question of communism as an issue was injected today in the trial of the seven labor leaders and strikers charged with second degree murder in connection with the murder of O. F. Alderholt, Gastonia chief of police, but was not ruled upon.

Although the question was brought up by E. T. Candler, prosecution attorney, it was not immediately pressed. Judge M. V. Barnhill, presiding, was handed voluminous containing four cases, including the Sacco-Vanzetti case.

In addition to the latter case, Attorney Candler said cases which had a bearing on this case were the Most case of New York, in 1937; the Ruthenberg case in Michigan, in which syndicalism featured, and the Spies case in 1935, in connection with the Haymarket riots.

Struck by a 20-year-old striker, was on the witness stand when the issue was raised.

"Who fired you now?" the witness was asked by James E. Newell, prosecution attorney during cross-examination.

"The International Labor Defense," she replied.

"And the International Labor Defense is a part of the communist party, isn't it?" Mr. Newell shot back.

MRS. LOUIS FINE DIES AT HOSPITAL; LAST RITES TODAY
Mrs. Louis Fine, 45, of 666 Park drive, died Thursday afternoon at a local hospital.

Her husband, Mr. Fine, in addition to her husband, are a daughter, Miss Evelyn Fine; a son, A. D. Fine; two brothers, Harry Heller, of Henrietta, Okla., and Ralph Heller, and a sister, Mrs. Sarah Silverman, of Watertown, New York.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 o'clock this morning from the chapel of San Greenberg & Company, with Rabbi Henry Epstein and the Rev. A. Lipitz officiating. Burial will be in Roseland cemetery.

GEORGIA SINGING MEETING TO DRAW MANY HERE SUNDAY
Several thousand visitors are expected in Atlanta Sunday for the annual convention of the Georgia Co-operative Singing Association, which will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning and continue throughout the day at the Central Baptist church, Whitehall and Cooper streets.

The convention this year will bring together not only singers from all over Georgia but also delegations from Alabama, South Carolina and Florida.

Judge J. D. Davis, of Fayetteville, president of the Georgia association, will preside at the session here Sunday.

INSANE ASYLUM INMATES GUESTS AT GEORGIA FAIR
Milledgeville, Ga., October 10.—(AP)—Approximately 1,000 patients of the Georgia State sanitarium were guests of the Middle Georgia Fair Association at the Middle Georgia Fair here today. The public was excluded from the grounds for several hours while the patients enjoyed the attractions.

"Sunday School" Night.
Tonight is "Sunday School" night at the Jefferson Street Methodist church revival, which continues this week and next. The service begins at 7 o'clock and the Rev. Y. A. Beall, pastor, will preach. Special music has been arranged.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA
Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Debate on Political Policy Features Labor Convention; English Union Heads Speak Advantages of Full Co- operation With Rail- roads Told by President of Canadian System.

Toronto, Ont., October 10.—(AP)—An impromptu debate over political policies and an exposition of the advantages of full co-operation between railroads and labor unions featured the proceedings today of the American Federation of Labor convention.

Two English trades union delegates stressed the accomplishment of trades unions in their country in building an independent labor party and William Green, president of the federation, responded with a defense of the non-partisanship of the federation in the United States.

Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National railroads, asserted that co-operation with labor unions in his system, under a plan followed by the Baltimore & Ohio and other lines in the United States, had "come to be regarded as our greatest asset."

"I can almost visualize the day when the entire staff of the Canadian National will be operating under appropriate co-operative partnership plans."

J. T. Brownlie, representing English machinists, swung into an address whose tone contrasted sharply with Sir Henry Thornton's from the moment that he announced the labor party of that country to be "now the government of Great Britain."

"I'm not one of those who imagine that the labor government is going to effect a revolution," he said, "but labor will yet effect an economic and industrial revolution in society. We are yet faced with the representatives of organized predatory wealth. May-be they'll forego their rights and if they do, they'll be well advised, for they can no more arrest the onward drive of organized labor than they can arrest the sun."

President Green took issue quickly with the speakers. "We are advancing our interests in the United States by pursuing a different policy from organized labor in Great Britain," he said. "We see in political power the same virtue that our English brothers do, but we are hard-headed men. We have a different country. It has 48 states, 48 governments, and at least half of those states are each larger than Great Britain. We have a cosmopolitan people, with language and interests of great diversity. It is not possible in this great expanse and with this great diversity to create a single party organization like that which exists in compact Great Britain."

"Here is the difference that must always be considered. We know we are on the right track now in abstaining from party organization, but if the time ever comes when the best interests of organized labor can be served by a labor party, we'll face the issue in this congress of labor."

AFRICAN IS HELD IN SAVANNAH JAIL TO BE DEPORTED

Savannah, Ga., October 10.—(AP)—Awaiting deportation back to his native jungle haunts in British West Africa, Alfred Johnson is now lodged in the Chatham county jail pending completion of arrangements by local immigration inspectors.

Johnson, whose face is scarred with three slashes on each cheek, was deported thus by his tribe to indicate his membership, immigration officers reported. About 10 years of civilization in the United States have been enjoyed by Johnson. He has learned to speak English fairly well and has been married, but the long arm of Uncle Sam's immigration service is to send him back to Africa, back to the land of the totem.

Included in the aliens now in the jail either awaiting deportation or decisions in their cases are a British Honduran, Norwegian, Swede and other nationalities. Samroo Miah, a native of the British East Indies, is being held pending a decision in his case.

WHITMAN WILL SPEAK

Will Address Motor Club Unit.

The members' council, a unit of the Atlanta Motor Club, will meet at a luncheon in the canteen at the Ansley hotel at 12:30 o'clock today, Russell R. Whitman, publisher of The Georgian, will make an address.

MONSON IN CHARGE OF LOCAL MARINE RECRUITING OFFICE

Captain George E. Spotts, for the past 2 years in charge of the United States marine recruiting station in Atlanta, will today be relieved by LIEUTENANT G. E. MONSON.

Lieutenant G. E. Monson, Captain Spotts has been detailed to duty in Nicaragua.

Lieutenant Monson, with his wife and daughter, has been in the city several days. He said that he and his family were favorably impressed with their new home and by the cordiality of Atlantans.

A native of California, Lieutenant Monson enlisted in the Marine Corps in 1917, was later promoted to the rank of corporal and sent to an officers' training school, receiving the commission of second lieutenant July 15, 1918. He saw service during the World War.

On April 25, 1921, he accepted a permanent commission as first lieutenant, and since that time has been stationed in Panama, Porto Rico, Virgin Islands, Hawaii, China, Japan, England and France, proving that the Marine Corps offers travel opportunities.

THREE GOVERNOR STATIONS PLANNED BY GAS COMPANY

Governor stations, to control the distribution of natural gas and to concentrate the gas when the system carries the "peak" load, are to be erected in various parts of the city, according to plans announced Thursday by the Atlanta Gas Light Company.

Permission to erect three such stations was granted the company Thursday by the board of zoning appeals. The new stations will be of brick and stucco construction.

BUREAU TO PROVIDE FOR INFUX OF VISITORS

Football Games and Other Attractions To Tax City's Hotel Resources.

The Atlanta Convention and Tourist Bureau has provided the answer for the stranger's question this weekend, "Where can I get a room?" A housing bureau has been established in Room 218 Mortgage Guaranty building, with Mrs. Anna Merle Evans in charge. The telephone number is Walnut 5670.

Atlanta's hostesses ordinarily can take care of several conventions with a football game added, but when the city is asked to take care of incoming crowds for such affairs as the Tech-Tarheel tilt at Grant field this afternoon, and the entrance for Saturday's football classic at Atlanta, when Georgia's eleven entertains Yale's big blue team, the task gets too difficult, especially when the dish is added Governors' Day at the Southeastern Fair and the arrival in the city Saturday of the air fleet of the Ford Reliability Tour.

This situation is expected to tax the city's hotels, so the Convention and Tourist Bureau established its housing bureau. A list of rooms in the city are available for persons who find themselves without accommodations.

TENNESSEE POWER FIRM WILL ACQUIRE $12,000,000 COMPANY

Nashville, Tenn., October 10.—(AP)—The state railroad and public utilities commission tonight approved the application of the Tennessee Electric Power Company for a permit to issue 150,000 shares of no par value common stock with which to acquire all outstanding stock, bonds and other obligations of the Southern States Power Company and subsidiary organizations.

Attorneys explained at a lengthy hearing today that stock of the Southern States Power Company, all involved in the purchase, total more than $12,000,000, attorneys announced.

Outstanding stocks and bonds of the Southern States Power Company, the Southern States Ice Company, Southern Cities Utilities Corporation, Tennessee Water Company and the Public Light & Power Company, all involved in the purchase, total more than $12,000,000, attorneys announced.

ATLANTAN ACCEPTED FOR RESERVE CORPS

Washington, October 10.—(Special)—War department officials announced Thursday that the application of Frank Clayton Ghesling, of 269 Sutherland terrace, N. E., Atlanta, as second lieutenant in the infantry reserve corps, United States army, has been accepted.

TOTS INCINERATED WHEN ALABAMA FARM HOME BURNS

Ragland, Ala., October 10.—(AP)—The two children of Mr. and Mrs. John Alverson, aged 2 and 4 years, were incinerated by an early morning fire which leveled the Alversons' farm home here today before they had awakened.

Mrs. Alverson was at a spring drawing water when the small house burst into flames, presumably from a stove. The fire spread quickly, preventing the mother's efforts at rescue. The father had gone to his work.

DRY AGENT FACES TRIAL ON MURDER CHARGE

Columbus, Ga., October 10.—(AP)—Grady Cobb, federal prohibition agent, under a second degree murder indictment for the killing of Albert Edmonds in Phenix City, Ala., in June, 1928, faces trial Monday in federal court at Opelika, Ala., it was learned here today.

LINWOOD LEAGUE TO NAME OFFICERS AT MEET TONIGHT

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Linwood Community League will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the basement of the Druid Hills Methodist church, it was announced Thursday by G. C. McWhirter, president. Members of other city leagues of the city are invited.

3 Railroads Protest "Excessive" Valuation By Tennessee Board

Nashville, Tenn., October 10.—(AP)—Three railroads, members of the Illinois Central system, today filed exceptions to the tentative assessments for 1929-1930 as fixed by the state railroad and public utilities commission. The commission will hear the exceptions October 18. The assessments are said to be excessive. The roads are the Chicago, St. Louis & New Orleans Railroad Company, the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley Railroad Company and the Chicago, Memphis & Gulf Railroad Company. Assessment figures were not made public.

MAJOR BUTLER ILL

Retired Medical Officer Believed Near Death.

McComb, Miss., October 10.—(AP)—Major R. M. Butler, retired army medical officer, is critically ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs. N. B. Williams, here. He has been on duty at Camp McClellan, Anniston, Ala., for several years, and was retired October 4 this year. He was at one time superintendent of the Mississippi Insane hospital.

New Engines of Destruction Land Guns Score Hits on Aerial Targets Wreak Havoc in Army Tests

Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md., October 10.—(AP)—The army trotted out its post-war ordnance developments here today to show how much destruction modern armed aircraft can cause on land and its new means of resisting airplane attacks.

Spectacular tests of aircraft bombing and strafing, tank and motorized infantry maneuvers and anti-aircraft gunnery were staged in connection with the eleventh annual meeting of the American Ordnance Association.

The 15,000 who gathered to hear a 4,000-pound airplane bomb explode were somewhat disappointed. Army officials became cautious and the two bombs, released from a height of 6,000 feet, fell four miles away. One failed to explode, but the second fell into a forest, exploded and gouged out a crater 30 feet deep and 50 feet in diameter, tossing trees and debris skyward.

High government, army and navy officials witnessed the exhibition, among whom was Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams, who stopped off from an airplane flight en route to Lakehurst, N. J., where he took his first ride in the dirigible bag.

Another feature of the demonstration was a battery of 75-millimeter mobile anti-aircraft guns, operated by an electrical robot, firing shrapnel at a target towed by an airplane at an altitude of 7,500 feet. The guns scored 20 hits. Machine gun anti-aircraft firing registered 74 hits at a target towed 100 miles an hour at a height of 2,000 feet.

Naval officers showed particular interest in the 300-pound airplane bombing test, which gave the spectators a thrill. They appeared very effective and there was a divergence of views expressed on the effect such an attack would have on battleships.

One round was fired from a 14-inch gun, the concussion from which was felt a mile away. The huge projectile was thrown nearly 25 miles.

In an address before the association, which held its annual meeting, Benedict Crowell, president, said that until humanity is made over there would be need for adequate preparedness against war. Although advocating world peace, he said peace negotiations would have to prove themselves as lasting as the history of man has proved resort to arms to be a fact.

Senator Hiram Bingham, of Connecticut, president of the National Aeronautical Association, in an address said that "the chief method of striking at an enemy in which we can stop off from an airplane flight en route to Lakehurst, N. J., where he took his first ride in the dirigible bag."

UNITED UNION ACTION IN SOUTH PROPOSED

McMahon Introduces Resolution for Concerted Move at Toronto Convention.

Toronto, October 10.—(AP)—Mentioning recent industrial outbreaks in the south, Thomas F. McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers, introduced a resolution before the American Federation of Labor convention here today calling for united union action for organization of new unions in that section.

The measure proposed a special conference of all union executive officers to provide funds and devise methods for the work.

Relation of labor and capital in the railroad field came up for particular attention today in the convention proceedings.

Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, opened the discussions, and he was followed by several speakers representing railroad unions.

"Improvement in the position of the masses has been the outstanding achievement of civilization," Sir Henry said, "but progress has by no means concluded. The future relationship will be that of partners, between workers and employers. The brains and muscle which guides the wheels of industry are worth as great attention as the materials which make up its fabric."

"No enterprise can be successful unless it has contented workers. With the acceptance of the partnership principle will come the greatest prosperity."

EXPORTS, IMPORTS BOTH SHOW GAINS IN CURRENT YEAR

Washington, October 10.—(AP)—Increase in both exports and imports of merchandise for August and the first eight months of 1929 over corresponding periods of last year were reported today by the commerce department.

Exports during the eight months of this year were $21,261,490, greater than the corresponding period of 1928, the figures being: 1928, $2,407,239; 1929, $2,415,978. Imports, $25,976,638, with $3,009,471,976 for 1929 and $2,750,459,338 for 1928.

For August imports recorded a substantial increase of $22,814,886 over August last year with $369,529,920. Exports increased $2,358,590, with $381,364,779 as compared to $379,006,189.

BRITISH SCHOONER FORCED AGROUND ON FLORIDA COAST

Jacksonville Beach, Fla., October 10.—(AP)—With her four masts and hull tilted, the 122-ton British schooner, Ada Tower, lay stranded on the beach south of here tonight, having been grounded early today to avoid piling up on the jetty at the mouth of the St. Johns river.

Freeman H. Hatfield, master and owner of the vessel, said he would attempt to have her pulled from the beach at low tide tonight, but that he would sell the schooner if she could not be floated tonight. The crew of eight men that manned the boat on her trip from Port Tampano, Cuba, to the mouth of the St. Johns river, and who threw out three anchors to keep the craft from riding before a heavy east wind into the jetty before dawn, remained aboard safe tonight.

HIGH EXPLOSIVE SNUFFS OUT BLAZE OF BURNING GEYSER

Oklahoma City, Okla., October 10.—(AP)—A high explosive charge set off by M. M. Kinley, fire fighting expert from Tulsa, snuffed out the blaze of the Sinclair Oil & Gas Company No. 3 stamper well in the South Oklahoma City field shortly after noon today. The well, a 50,000,000-foot gasser, had shot a 150-foot torch into the air since Tuesday.

A 30-quart shot of gelatin-dynamite exploded below the flames extinguished the mammoth torch. When the charge was touched off the huge blaz- leaped into the air, cut off entirely from the gas flow from the well.

Contained in a compact bomb, the explosive was wheeled by Kinley, clad in an asbestos suit, to as near the center of the flames as possible. The charge was touched off by electricity from a barricade about 250 feet from the edge of the giant torch.

LITTLE LOUISIANA VILLAGE IS ROLLED TO HIGH GROUND

New Orleans, October 10.—(AP)—Wholly without protection from floods a thriving little community at Jesuit bend in Plaquemines parish 16 miles below New Orleans on the Mississippi river was placed on rollers today and started to higher ground because of the slipping away of 4,800 feet of the river dyke.

The exodus of the people in the river bend began while government engineers made preparations to construct a new run-around levee on a temporary scale to protect the high lands from inundation threatened if the river reaches 16 feet. Ten houses, the church, several negro cabins and outhouses were placed on the rollers to be pulled to new locations a short distance behind the proposed levee line in the crisis.

Made Gold From Lead By Alchemy

Munich, Germany, October 10.—(AP)—Franz Tausend, a former plumber and known widely as a professed alchemist, claimed here yesterday to have produced a tenth of a gram of gold from 1.67 centigrams of lead. Officials of the mint watched him carefully, but still are not convinced that he actually obtained the gold from the lead.

Indeed, feeling grew today that he had hoodwinked even the high officials of the state mint, who issued an official statement, reading:

"After experimenting for two hours Tausend produced a grain of the purest gold, weighing one-tenth of a gram, which was smelted from 1.67 grams of lead. Experts describe the result as surprisingly favorable and contradictory to scientific knowledge. The director of the mint, however, is unable to suppress doubts as to whether Tausend was able to smuggle the gold into the test in spite of all precautions."

CHILD SWALLOWS OPEN SAFETY PIN WHILE PLAYING

Corning, N. Y., October 10.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. George E. Gregory, of this city, were speeding toward Philadelphia today with their seven-month-old son, Danny, for the removal of an open safety pin in the child's lung. They were aboard an express train which was detained here several minutes so they could catch it. Unable to perform the delicate operation, local surgeons referred the case to Dr. Chevalier Jackson, of Philadelphia, noted laryngologist.

Danny put the pin into his mouth while playing on the floor at his home late yesterday. It first lodged in his throat, but when surgeons at the Corning hospital administered anesthetic preparatory to operating, relaxation of the muscles caused the pin to slip down into the right lung.

JURY BANS THEORY OF MAN'S CONTROL OVER WIFE'S ACTS

Tampa, Fla., October 10.—(AP)—The old legal theory that a husband has control over his wife's actions was set at naught in federal district court here today with the conviction of Mrs. Francis Shields, of selling narcotics.

Shields was convicted yesterday on a similar charge. As Mrs. Shields was brought before the bar her attorneys pleaded that she could not be held responsible for acts committed in the presence of her husband because he was responsible for her conduct. The judge gave both sides until today to present legal evidence. The jury found for the government and adjudged her guilty.

POLICEMAN GIVEN SENTENCE OF YEAR FOR SLAYING MAN

Seale, Ala., October 10.—(AP)—Tom M. Daniel, former Phenix City (Ala.) policeman, today faced a sentence of one year in the penitentiary for the killing of Charles W. Wilkerson in Phenix City several months ago. Daniel was convicted of manslaughter yesterday in circuit court here, but motion for a new trial was filed by his attorney. He had been convicted previously of second degree murder, but the case was reversed by the state supreme court and the defendant granted a second trial.

Lindbergh Returns to Miami Ending Brilliant 20-Day Tour of Ancient Mayan Ruins

Ruins Dating Back to Spanish Conquistadors Period Found by Airman on Last Day's Flight.

Miami, Fla., October 10.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, the explorer, came home tonight from his latest triumph of the air, a 20-day tour of the Mayan ruins in Mexico, ending at 9:56 o'clock this morning.

Lindbergh easily could have been in Miami by mid-afternoon, but he was reluctant to leave the scene of his explorations. Pointing the nose of his plane northward after taking off, the flying colonel backtracked into Quintana Roo province, Mexico, to seek another glimpse of the Mayan temples.

At 10:30 o'clock a radio message from the plane stated that the expedition had uncovered several large mounds and a temple dating back to the time of the Spanish conquistadors. Arriving over Cuba, one of the largest of the Mayan ruins nearly an hour later, the expedition message a graphic description of the scene, stating that due to tangled jungle brush only the tops of domes, pyramids and edifices could be seen from the air.

Lindbergh sought signs of a great stone highway said to have traversed the section around Chichen Itza but reported he could find no trace of it through the dense jungle. He then turned back toward Cozumel to resume his flight to the United States via Cuba.

Honduran Jungle.

Lindbergh's newest discoveries were said to be in the jungles of western British Honduras, Yucatan and eastern Guatemala, which country was the seat of a great empire in Mayan days, dating back to about the time of Christ. While Lindbergh's flight from the jungles, were reported by the aerial expedition, and other evidences of ancient structures. In some sections the natives claim to have seen the sound and sight of the plane roaring overhead.

The colonel brought his plane down here after days of flying, but had been falling all day, and was forced to land before the plane could be brought to the ground.

PARTY LEAVES COZUMEL ISLAND.

Aboard Lindbergh's plane, October 10.—(AP)—By Radio Direct to Pan-American International Airport, Miami.—Starting their last day of the three weeks' air tour around the Caribbean, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his party took off from Cozumel island off the coast of Mexico, and headed west toward the territory of Quintana Roo on the mainland. The object was a final sight of the Mayan ruins spotted yesterday on the air expedition sponsored jointly by the Carnegie Institution of Washington, and the Pan-American Airways.

Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh, together with Dr. A. V. Kidder, of the Carnegie institution; W. L. Van Deusen, reporter of the expedition, and Charles Loeber and William Elmer, crew of the airplane, were the guests.

of Mosby Adams during their stay at Cozumel island. Immediately after breakfast they visited the new Pan-American airport where engineers have constructed runways for the passenger planes that are soon to be operated over the route to Central America.

Work at the airport resulted in the uncovering of several Mayan ruins, including a temple which probably dated back to before the time of the Spanish conquest of Mexico, well preserved statuary showing the Maya deity, the feathered serpent, and other figures were found by the workmen.

Seek Old Highway.

Following a plan of flight decided upon last week, Colonel Lindbergh headed for Cuba on the mainland, one of the largest Mayan ruins but which has been only briefly studied. The object was to try to pick up signs of a great ancient highway built of rock and believed to have been used to connect Cuba with other cities of Yucatan.

Forty-five minutes after the start the plane was over the great square temple at Cozumel which, with pyramids, formed the central plaza of the old city. The community was strung along the banks of two lakes and after circling the central towers, other mounds were clearly identified from the plane, some distance away but obviously part of the ancient settlement.

Only crumbling bits of masonry atop the highest pyramids can be seen today, the brush and jungle growths having swallowed all relics closer to the natural surface and have hidden them from the eyes of men afoot.

Colonel Lindbergh spent some time circling around these sites, but no sign of a stone highway could be discerned. Therefore he turned back toward Cozumel with low, unbroken clouds and a little rain ahead, but in spots which made it easy for the machine to avoid them.

By noon the big machine had passed over Cozumel again and was well out over the Yucatan straits on its way to Cuba. The last of the Mayan country was behind us.

Everyone was enthusiastic over the results of the five days of exploration from the air. In that time the party had covered a distance that would have taken about eight years for an expedition on mule back, cutting its way carefully through the jungle and had plotted all but one small bit of what heretofore had been blank spots on the maps of Yucatan and Quintana Roo, in Mexico, and in sections of Guatemala and British Honduras.

Spots Steamer.

The flight had also proved that planes would be used to transport scientific parties to isolated localities in the jungle, accomplishing in a few hours what would require days and even weeks of painstaking and laborious effort if the task were attempted by land.

At 1:30 p. m. the plane was flying along the southwest coast of Cuba. Colonel Lindbergh spotted the rusted hulk of a steamer which had been wrecked some time ago and swerved from his course in order to fly over it.

Mrs. Lindbergh served a luncheon consisting of mammoth sandwiches brought from Cozumel, supplemented with provisions which had been carried as emergency rations during the exploration flights over Yucatan.

Both the colonel and his wife were in high spirits as they approached the end of the 9,000-mile flight around the Caribbean over the air routes of the Pan-American Airways. Since September 29 they had visited 20 countries or colonies. The absence of formal ceremonies and big receptions was especially pleasing to them and afforded them the first opportunity since many months to lead a normal life. Both seemed greatly by the experience.

The weather was equally across the straits but none of the party in the plane suffered any discomfort.

War Department Prepares Bronze Plaques for Atlan- ta-Marietta Area.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

Washington, D. C., October 10.—(Special).—Appropriate markers for Civil War battle fields around Atlanta and Marietta are now in the course of preparation and are expected to be completed by December 31, Secretary of War Good today informed Senator W. J. Harris, of Georgia.

The Georgia senator at the last session secured appropriation for having the battle fields properly designated by bronze markers and recently wrote Secretary Good to ascertain what progress had been made in the work. The war department has replied today as follows:

"It gives me pleasure to inform you the history and maps of these battles are now in the course of preparation by the member of the historical section, army war college, assigned to this work."

"Before visiting these battle fields for the purpose of determining what terrain would properly be included in a plan to memorialize them it is necessary to make a thorough study of the battles so that when the officer does visit the grounds, other mounds with what occurred there. It is believed that the historical work and the preliminary inspection of the ground will be completed before December 31."

Couple Tells Strange Tale Of Hitch-Hiking

Clarksville, Tenn., October 10.—

(AP)—A strange tale of being drugged by a woman autoist who picked them up as they traveled through this section from Macon, Ga., to Chicago, has been told authorities by Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Langston, but investigation has failed to shed further light on the incident.

The two were treated in a hospital here after being found last Saturday in a semi-conscious condition at the side of the road near New Providence. They later said they believed the woman had given them a drug in a soft drink. She threw them out of her car, they added.

A Nashville woman is said to have admitted giving the couple a ride, but denied the rest of their story. Langston and his wife are well on the way to recovery. Officers reported finding papers on him showing that he was under a suspended sentence in Georgia for embezzlement from a Macon bank.

STATE CONVICTS WILL COMPLETE TAMiami TRAIL

Tallahassee, Fla., October 10.—(AP)

Hardsurfacing of the final unpaved link of the Tamiami Trail, consisting of about ten miles, will be undertaken shortly by convicts, Chairman Robert W. Bentley, of the state road department, announced today.

The convicts will be sent into Collier county shortly to begin the work, Mr. Bentley said. "The department will purchase the time rock at its annual meeting quarterly meeting to be held October 28, when bids for approximately 50,000 tons of rock for that project, will be received. Bids will also be opened at that meeting for rock to be used in hardsurfacing the remainder of road No. 19 in Marion county, where convicts will also be used from a Dixie county camp."

In announcing that the department was preparing to use state convict forces in greater numbers for road work, instead of private labor, Chairman Bentley said that class of labor hereafter would also be assigned to hardsurfacing instead of confining it to grading. Convicts will likewise be assigned to Holmes and Washington counties to hardsurface stretches of the old Spanish Trail damaged by the floods of last spring. Material for that work will also be purchased at the coming meeting of the department.

SELF-CONFESSED SELLER OF RUM UNDER GUARD

Louisville, Ky., October 10.—(AP)

A self-confessed bootlegger who brought graft charges that led to the indictment of five Louisville policemen today was under guard of two federal officers after having repented with a tale of being kidnapped and held prisoner three days.

Police and federal officers had been making a search for James A. Skillman ever since his wife reported that he telephoned her Sunday afternoon that "the bunch has got me."

Skillman asserted he had been lured into an automobile Sunday afternoon by three men. Later, he declared, he was led blindfolded to the third floor of a house and kept there three days until released late yesterday.

He said the men offered him $1,500 if he would leave town and not testify. He was summoned to appear Monday before the federal grand jury, and two federal officers were detailed to guard him.

BABY SON'S ILLNESS SENDS ALVIN YORK SPEEDING TO HOME

Cumberland Falls, Ky., October 10.

(AP)—Sergeant Alvin York, World War hero, was on his way to his home at Jamestown, Tenn., today, having been called from a speaking tour in 11 cities by the serious illness of his 11-month-old son, Sam Houston York.

The sergeant tried to charter a plane at Taylorsville, Ill., where the message reached him, but was unable to do so. He went on the same train on which Secretary Good, of the war department, was riding with other members of the federal power commission. Secretary Good was one of the officials who honored Sergeant York last week at war college ceremonies at Washington.

STUNT FLYER KILLED WHEN BOMB EXPLODES

Guyton, Okla., October 10.—(AP)

Shattered by a premature explosion of a bomb during a stunt flight at the county fair here, an airplane crashed to the ground from an altitude of 500 feet, killing J. Jimmy (Mile High) Bethel, 30, of St. Joseph, Mo., and dangerously injuring John Noonan, of Guyton, the pilot.

Bethel, an aerial stunt performer, released a five-second bomb from the front cockpit which failed to clear the plane before it exploded. One wing was blown off and the plane dived to earth.

HILL QUILTS RAILROAD AFTER 36 YEARS' DUTY

Resigns Chairmanship of Board of Great Northern.

St. Paul, Minn., October 10.—(AP)

After 36 years of service to the road founded by his famous father, J. J. Hill, Louis W. Hill, of St. Paul, offered his resignation today as chairman of the board of the Great Northern railway. Mr. Hill plans to devote most of his time hereafter to personal interests.

"After 36 years of work for the Great Northern, I feel that I deserve a rest from the responsibilities involved," said Hill. "My family spends considerable time each year abroad, and I wish to be free to be with them. Circumstances have always prevented by leaving before."

"My father advised me to retire from active participation in railway affairs when I reached the age of 40. That time came and passed 16 years ago, but now the way is open to me to do what I have desired."

Mr. Hill has numerous personal hobbies which he expects to indulge in more fully in the future. He is an art collector and he has done considerable painting. He also is desirous of rounding out a collection of the letters and writings of his father, "The Empire Builder."

Mr. Hill started his railroad career with the Great Northern in 1893, as a billing clerk. He became assistant to the president in 1898, and in 1907 he succeeded his father as president.

He was elected chairman of the board in 1912 and since then has held that post, serving at times also as president. Ralph Budd, of St. Paul, now is president of the road.

Mr. Hill will continue as a large stockholder with an active interest in the line's affairs.

FORMER OHIO TREASURER MUST GO TO PRISON

Cincinnati, October 10.—(AP)

Bert Buckley, former state treasurer, lost his fight to escape serving a two and a half-year penitentiary term and paying a $1,000 fine for attempted bribery of a prohibition officer when the United States circuit court of appeals refused today to grant him a rehearing in his appeal.

The court immediately affirmed a mandate which stayed the order of execution for 30 days so that Buckley's attorneys could appeal the case to the United States supreme court.

Buckley resigned under threat of impeachment by Governor Cooper after the government proved he conspired with two Cincinnati attorneys and a brewmaster to bribe John F. Eckhart, former acting assistant federal prohibition administrator, to provide them with tips when raids were to be made on Cincinnati breweries. It was charged Buckley and his associates offered Eckhart money and promises of political influence.

TENNESSEE VETS PICK R. A. PIERCE FOR COMMANDER

Union City, Tenn., October 10.—

(AP)—Rice Pierce, Union City, was elected commander of the Tennessee division, United Confederate veterans, at the closing session today of the annual reunion. He succeeds General T. C. Little, Fayetteville.

J. A. Steele, also of this city, was elected adjutant. E. G. Roberts, Chattanooga, was elected commander of the first brigade of east Tennessee, W. V. Whitaker, McMinnville, commander of the second brigade of middle Tennessee, and E. R. Oldman, commander of the third brigade, west Tennessee.

The reunion was ended with a parade this afternoon in which more than 100 Confederate veterans participated. Veterans of other wars and Boy Scouts were in the line of march.

ELEVEN SLUGGED IN CHICAGO UNION AND RED CLASH

Chicago, October 10.—(AP)

Eleven men were slugged and another stabbed in a clash on the west edge of the Loop last night between union workers and a group which the unionists regarded as communistic.

There was fighting in the streets and hundreds of men and women refused to leave factories in which they are employed until police had dispersed the rioters.

The trouble started from handbills signed by the Needle Trades Workers Industrial Union, assailing the International Ladies Garments Workers' union as "sellout and scab agency." Four men, all members of the first group, were arrested on charges growing out of the sluggings and stabbing.

Skillman asserted he had been lured into an automobile Sunday afternoon by three men. Later, he declared, he was led blindfolded to the third floor of a house and kept there three days until released late yesterday.

He said the men offered him $1,500 if he would leave town and not testify. He was summoned to appear Monday before the federal grand jury, and two federal officers were detailed to guard him.

FIND THE TWINS

At first glance all the young ladies look alike; but you are asked to find the Twins that are clothed exactly alike. Now then: upon closer examination you will find a difference in their wearing apparel. Have they all earrings or necklaces? How about their coats and hats? Are they trimmed the same? Some have bands on the brim and crowns, others have not. Maybe the difference is just the buttonhole in the lapel of the coat.

It takes real care and cleverness to point out the difference and find the two real Twins, because two and only two are identically the same.

When you have found the twins, write the numbers in the coupon at right, fill in your name and complete address and mail at once to the Puzzle Manager, The Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. In the event of ties in the final awarding, prizes of equal value will be given.

Think of it—you can win as much as $4,000.00 cash and a $1,500.00 Buick four-door sedan! Yes, sir! $7,540.00 in cash prizes may be won in this interesting puzzle contest plus the $1,500.00 Buick Sedan, and these prizes will be awarded after the close of the contest, November 12th, 1929.

100 Points Wins FIRST PRIZE

You will be given 90 points for finding the Twins. Immediately on receipt of your correct answer to the Twins we will send you particulars for winning the big cash prizes and the magnificent $1,500.00 Buick Sedan for promptness. No words to build—no dictionary to refer to. Everyone has an equal chance. All you will have to do then is to earn the final 10 points required for the first cash prize or prizes.

THE GUMPS—A BRAINSTORM

THE HAWK

By ROY VICKERS

INSTALLMENT XII.
INTUITION.

Wreford left him. Dorling waited, expecting each minute to be summoned to the presence of the commander, when he was suddenly aware of movement on board the destroyer. They had not seemed to increase their speed but in less than a minute, it seemed, they were alongside the Cornelia. It was while he was watching the boat being lowered that the commander sent for him.

"Ah, Lord Dorling! Sit down, will you. I want you to wait here until we have finished with the Cornelia." "Very good, sir," said Dorling, whereupon the commander left him. An hour passed and then another while Dorling wondered uneasily what was happening on the Cornelia. He had not noticed the time but guessed that he must have waited some three hours before he heard the engine throb and knew that the destroyer was under way.

Almost immediately Cecily herself appeared in the doorway, being ushered in by Lieutenant Commander Benson.

"Isn't this perfectly amazing!" she cried, flushed with pleasure and excitement. "I knew you would manage it somehow."

"You know this gentleman, Miss Warren?" asked the commander.

"I've known him all my life, since we were both children," she answered, and added: "He is Lord Dorling."

"Thanks," laughed Dorling. "One of the officers here mistook me for Doug Harris—you know, the airman-convict."

"How charming of him!" returned Cecily with complete composure. "I think Doug Harris is one of the bravest men on earth, don't you, commander?"

The commander murmured a doubtful assent as a junior officer appeared and took Cecily to the cabin that had been placed at her disposal. Leaving gathered that he was now free to leave the commander's room.

While Dorling was idly occupying himself, Wreford was closeted with the commander.

"You must admit that this looks like a case of mistaken identity."

"It looks like it, sir. But if you'll allow me to say so, I'm quite confident that I've made no mistake. I saw Doug Harris several times before he was sent to prison. Besides, sir, he is not the kind of man one would mix up with some one else."

"What do you make, then, of Miss Warren's identification?"

"I don't know what to make of it, sir. Given that we know for certain that she is Miss Warren—"

"She's Miss Warren for present purposes," said the commander thoughtfully. "That means—" wireless out of action. I tell you what, Wreford, I'll send you to escort Miss Warren to her father—and I'll make it pretty clear to Dorling that he's got to go with you. You can take two men as servants. If Dorling tries to slip away from you they'll have orders to collar him. When you arrive, get Warren to identify Dorling. If he does identify him you'll have to drop it."

When Jaber Malleron returned to his house for lunch he found two telegrams waiting for him. Each telegram referred, apparently, to a transaction in stocks and bonds.

His memory of the code told him that each was from the captain of the Cornelia. Generally he could decode a message at sight, but for these two he was compelled to consult his code-book.

"Destroyer following me closely, but gives no signal."

The second message had been dispatched some two hours later.

"Destroyer has just ordered me to stand to. Will have to obey. Will report again."

For a minute or more Malleron gravely considered the two messages.

"The destroyer is on patrol and is wondering what they are doing up there," ran his thoughts. "If my orders have been obeyed there is nothing on board—except Warren's girl. They won't be looking for her here."

He dismissed the matter when Hodgson told him that luncheon was served. After lunch he waited a little longer than was his custom.

"Hodgson, if a telegram should come before I return, have it sent round to my office," he ordered as he left the house.

No further telegram came from the Cornelia that afternoon, nor during the evening, nor during the following morning. Even then, Malleron would not admit to himself that he was in any way puzzled or anxious.

His routine was allowed to suffer no interruption. Before returning to his house to lunch he rang up Lord Dorling's club and inquired for him.

At the club, he learned, Lord Dorling had not been heard of for five days.

"If he had reached land in that airplane he would most certainly have gone to his club," he was sure of it. Nevertheless, Malleron, who could think with lightning rapidity in an emergency, invariably checked his deductions when he had the opportunity.

"Would he have gone to his club?" Yes. No. Yes. He left a note to the porter to hold a note to the Moonbeam, saying the police were to be informed if he was not back by breakfast time. He does not know that we got his note, therefore he would naturally go to the club and tell them that he was alive and well. . . . If he were alive and well! But we may almost take it for certain that he is dead. . . . Unless a ship happened to be passing when he crashed into the sea some 50 miles from the Cornelia. . . . But we must make sure this afternoon.

A little before three that afternoon he was on his way to Warren's flat in Westminster. By the arts of which he was a master, he would drop a hint that would result in the sea being searched for the wreckage of an airplane. Further, unless circumstances were very much against him, he would find out exactly what the destroyer had done to the Cornelia.

As he stepped out of the lift his quick intuition warned him that he would never hold any such conversation with Warren.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS TO BE HONORED TODAY

Society's Calendar for Today Is Jotted With Diversions

While the new season has not yet reached that hectic stage where one engagement overlaps another, society's calendar for today is pleasantly jotted with just enough diversions to keep everyone busy and interested. First of all comes the breakfast, at the executive mansion on The Prado, in Ansley park, given by Governor Hardman and Mrs. Hardman, honoring a group of distinguished visitors including Governor Roosevelt and Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt, of New York state; Governor O. Max Gardner and Mrs. Gardner, of North Carolina; Governor Bibb Graves and Mrs. Graves, of Alabama; General J. Van B. Metts, adjutant-general of North Carolina, and General I. C. Reeves, adjutant-general of Alabama, all of whom will come to Atlanta to attend the festivities at the South-eastern Fair arranged for today, this particular day having been set apart as Governor's Day.

Those prominent North Carolinians, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Cannon, of Charlotte, who arrived today to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shaffer at their home in the Biltmore, will be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Chip Robert at luncheon at the Capital City Club, preceding the Carolina-Tech football game. Mr. and Mrs. Robert will again be hosts at a dinner party this evening at the dinner-dance at the Piedmont Driving Club for Mr. and Mrs. Cannon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hardisty entertain at tea at their Peachtree road home, honoring their guests, Miss Dorothy Ramsey, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dill, Mr. and Mrs. Brevard Walker, and Ed Hall, of Mobile, Ala., who will attend the Tech-North Carolina football game in Atlanta today, and with a group of Atlanta people, including Mr. and Mrs. Hardisty, will motor to Athens Saturday to witness the Yale-Georgia conflict.

Other Events.
Miss Sue Burnett, a Sweetbriar college student, returning today from Virginia, and her guest, Miss Margaret Hauser, of High Point, N. C., will be central figures at the luncheon given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Burnett, at the Capital City Club, while Misses Boots Walker and her guest, Miss Elfrida Barrow, of Savannah, will be honor guests at Miss Claire Hanner's luncheon given at the Athletic Club.

Special dinner-dances arranged at the Piedmont Driving Club and Biltmore hotel will attract the dancing set of society after the Tech-North Carolina football game, for these belles and beaux always seek some social rendezvous after a college game to dine and dance, and flock to two popular places which are favorite spots of society. Then, too, that interesting couple, Jack Sharp and his fiancée, Miss Lillian Johnson, will be honor guests at the dinner given by Burnam McGhee and Walker Cowles at the Piedmont Club, ten special friends being invited by the hosts to meet them.

Mrs. Smith Soon To Reside in Rome.

A handkerchief shower was given yesterday in honor of Mrs. William Smith at her residence, 780 Cleveland drive, by the ladies of Circle 4 of the Atlanta Child's Home. Mrs. Smith leaves Atlanta soon to make her home in Rome. Mrs. Kate Steedman, mother of Mrs. Smith, was also the recipient of a token in appreciation of her service to the circle.

Tallahul Falls Young Matrons' Circle To Meet

The Tallahul Falls Young Matrons' Circle will hold its annual meeting Wednesday, October 23, at 12:30 o'clock at a luncheon to be served in a private dining room of the club. Mrs. Eugene Harrington, president of the circle, will preside, and the election of officers will be a feature of the occasion. Mrs. Thomas Daniel is acting as chairman of decorations and Mrs. Homer Sanford will be in charge of the seating arrangements.

Mrs. Harrington announces that due to the continued rains and bad roads the pilgrimage planned to Tallahul Falls school which was to have taken place this month has been postponed until spring.

Miss Champion To Be Honored.

Miss Jennie Champion will be honor guest at a dance this evening given by a group of her friends celebrating her birthday. The hosts will be Douglas Dennis, Dean Thompson, George Vance, Johnnie Sign, Ramon Sanders and Price Moncrief. The hosts will be assisted in receiving by Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Champion.

Mrs. Bachman Elected President Perennial Club

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Bachman was recently elected president of the Perennial Garden Club. Other officers elected are Mrs. S. B. Naff, vice president; Mrs. Walter Lamb, secretary; Mrs. John L. Harper, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Arnold Hepp, treasurer; Miss May Hudson, memberships.

The following report of activities sponsored by the Perennial Garden Club for the year ending October 1 featured the meeting: 12 regular and two call meetings have been held; the range of studies has included the care and culture of tulips, iris, roses, dahlias, chrysanthemums, etc., together with treatise on the history of important perennials; aside from interesting and instructive papers prepared by members of the club there have been addresses by horticultural authorities and Mrs. Frank Davis, Mrs. J. S. Jackson and chairmen of numerous flower clubs; in addition there have been studies of rock gardens and plant foods and diseases; the treatment of subjects assigned to members, each having an outstanding perennial for her study, the papers being introduced in a contest held August 6; in addition to the perennial contest there were poster and slogan contests; the annual flower show was held at the Colonial Flower Shop May 14, the display revealing the wealth of glories in the gardens of the members; members of the club during the year have addressed 22 garden clubs in Atlanta and near-by towns; four garden clubs organized during the year and eight other clubs assisted in their organization; the club extended its activities into agriculture to the extent of planting and tending a five-acre patch and half acre Crowder pen patch for the benefit of the Georgia Children's Home.

Marriage of Griffin Couple Is Announced.

Griffin, Ga., October 10.—Mr. and Mrs. Z. M. Patterson announce the marriage of their daughter, Alyce, to Winfield Scott Futral. The marriage took place in LaFayette, Ala., on March 15, the ceremony being performed by Probate Babsen, of that city. The bride attended Forsyth High school and later attended Bessie Tift college, after which she took a business course at the Southern Business university in Atlanta. The groom received his high school education in Griffin and later attended college at Dahlonega. He is now engaged in business here, being representative of a large manufacturing concern. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Walter Futral.

Co-operation!

We realize the seriousness of Atlanta's traffic problem and we believe in doing our bit. So we issued the following instructions to the drivers of Rich's 25 trucks:

1. Street cars are to be definitely given the right-of-way. Nine out of every ten passengers in the street cars are our customers, and hindering a street car in any way means the inconveniencing of Rich's customers.
2. Keep your vehicle off the car tracks in every case possible.
3. Never park so that your vehicle protrudes into the street, and never park double. This inconveniences the public, both in automobile traffic and on the street cars.
4. Plan your route before you start so as to include the least congested streets. Stay off the streets where street cars run, whenever this is possible.
5. Keep to your side of the road, and watch the white lines on the curves.

Members of the Young Matrons' Bible Class of Martha Brown Memorial church will entertain their husbands at dinner this evening in the educational building.

B. of P. Members Outline Work.

Continuing the program of "Business Reciprocity," three members of the Business and Professional Women's Club outlined their work at the regular meeting held at the Wincoff hotel Wednesday evening. Miss Emma Hardcastle, superintendent of the Georgia Children's Home Society, states that the society was organized in 1911 under a state charter with the rights to care for neglected and dependent children, and that the state department of public welfare had official supervision, though no financial aid is received from the state.

Miss Ethel Holbrook, exchange teller Atlanta and Lowry National bank, told of the various services rendered by her particular department. "A bank was once considered a depository for money," Miss Holbrook explained, "but now its services are innumerable."

Mrs. J. M. Johnson, assistant district attorney for the northern district of Georgia, explained that this district covered northern Georgia with courts in Atlanta, Rome and Cartersville, the cases being under Judge S. H. Sibley. Miss Jane Van de Vrede, of the Georgia State Nurses' Association, read Matthew Arnold's poem, "Self Dependence." Miss Lyl Nevins To Wed John Cox In Birmingham Birmingham, Ala., October 10.—An engagement of cordial interest through out Alabama and the south is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. William Hooper Nevins of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Lyl Davidson, to John Swift Cox. The engagement is of interest due to the popularity of both Miss Nevins and Mr. Cox and to the prominence of the families of which they are members.

Miss Nevins is one of the most popular young girls of Birmingham and is of the brunette type of beauty. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nevins, of Nashville, Tenn., and Mrs. Joseph W. Davidson and the late Mr. Davidson, of Selma and Uniontown, Ala. She attended St. Mary's school at Peekskill, N. Y., and the Harcum school at Bryn Mawr, Pa. She later took courses at the Fine Arts academy in Cincinnati.

Mr. Cox is the son of Mrs. John Swift Cox and the late Mr. Cox. His grandparents were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Columbus Cox, of Hartsville, Ala., and the late L. Bascom Shelton and Mrs. Shelton, of Fayette, Ala. He is a graduate of Lawrenceville school, Lawrenceville, N. J., and of Princeton university, where he received his degree in June.

The wedding will take place in the Church of the Advent at 11 o'clock the morning of October 18, and Miss Nevins' only attendant will be Mrs. Hugh Morrow, Jr. George Dodge, of New Orleans, La., will serve Mr. Cox as best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Mark Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Stewart, whose marriage was an interesting event in exclusive social circles of Atlanta 50 years ago, will celebrate the golden anniversary of their wedding Tuesday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock. Mrs. Stewart was formerly Miss Ida Kiser, one of three attractive daughters of the late Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Kiser, among the best known of Atlanta's pioneer merchants and financiers. Other sons and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Kiser include Mrs. Webster, who was Miss Dora Kiser; Mrs. Oscar Vaughan, who was Miss Clifford Kiser; Gordon Kiser and J. P. Kiser, all of Atlanta. Mr. and Mrs. Ewing Dean, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, will receive with them on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary.

Restless Children

Children will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always one sure way to comfort a restless, fretful child. Castoria! Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as it tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than some powerful medicine that is meant for the stronger systems of adults.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is any need. In cases of colic, diarrhea, or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. But it has everyday uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed to set everything to right. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

STRIPED CHIPMUNK IS PERT.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

You'll find the saucy and the pert Are very apt to one another.

—Old Mother Nature.

Of course, you know what it means to be pert. A boy or girl who is saucy or who talks too much is saucy and pert. Now, of all the little people of the Green Forest and on the Green Meadows, or around them, there is none more lovable than Striped Chipmunk. Also, there is none who is saucier, unless it is his cousin Chatterer the Red Squirrel.

When Flip the Toad, came to live at Farmer Brown's he had to make the acquaintance of all the little people living around there. It didn't take him long to make the acquaintance of some. There is nothing bashful or backward about Flip. One of the first he discovered was Striped Chipmunk. Of course, Flip did come from a city, so he knew almost nothing about country folk. But he did know that there was a small person who looked as if he might be worth chasing. Flip had been chasing rats and mice and Striped Chipmunk was not sufficiently big to awaken any feeling of respect.

The first time Flip saw Striped Chipmunk, the latter was sitting in the middle of a path that goes down through the Old Orchard. The instant he caught sight of Striped Chipmunk, Flip headed for him at top speed.

Striped Chipmunk gave a start of his tail and scampered for the old stone wall, where in between the stones he was quite safe. Flip barked and barked at the opening between the stones where Striped Chipmunk had disappeared. He was so excited he couldn't bring himself to leave there, although he knew that he couldn't get down between those stones.

Suddenly Striped Chipmunk popped out just a short distance away and sat up on a stone on top of the old stone wall. Flip didn't see him. Striped Chipmunk, after jerking his tail two or three times to express his feelings, suddenly began scolding Flip. Such a surprised look there was on Flip's face when he saw Striped Chipmunk! He scrambled up on top of the wall and tried to run along it. Striped Chipmunk thought this was great fun. Of course, he can run at top speed.

Flip caught sight of Striped Chipmunk around that old stone wall. That old stone wall is a regular fortress for Striped Chipmunk. When he is on that, or close to it, he doesn't need to fear anybody, excepting Shadow the Weasel.

But Striped Chipmunk scolded in such a pert and saucy way that Flip couldn't stand it and kept right on, which is just what Striped Chipmunk wanted. Once or twice Flip lost his balance and had to jump down. When this happened, he raced along at the foot of the old wall until he was right beneath Striped Chipmunk and then jumped up. But always Striped Chipmunk mysteriously disappeared, only to pop out a moment or two later in the most impudent manner. And Flip was too excited to reason at all. Had he used his wits, as they were intended to be used, he would have known that Striped Chipmunk was just teasing him for his own pleasure.

along the old stone wall. As soon as Flip got near enough, Striped Chipmunk, with this little flat tail of his held straight up in the air, darted along the old wall for a few feet and once more sat up to scold. How his tongue did fly!

Now, Flip ought to have known that he hadn't a chance in the world of catching Striped Chipmunk around that old stone wall. That old stone wall is a regular fortress for Striped Chipmunk. When he is on that, or close to it, he doesn't need to fear anybody, excepting Shadow the Weasel.

But Striped Chipmunk scolded in such a pert and saucy way that Flip couldn't stand it and kept right on, which is just what Striped Chipmunk wanted. Once or twice Flip lost his balance and had to jump down. When this happened, he raced along at the foot of the old wall until he was right beneath Striped Chipmunk and then jumped up. But always Striped Chipmunk mysteriously disappeared, only to pop out a moment or two later in the most impudent manner. And Flip was too excited to reason at all. Had he used his wits, as they were intended to be used, he would have known that Striped Chipmunk was just teasing him for his own pleasure.

"Although I am only 22 years old, I have four babies to care for. Words cannot explain what your Vegetable Compound has done for me. My mother always kept it in her house for years. She calls it 'the old reliable.' Before my first baby was born she urged me to take it because I was so terribly weak, and I gave it a good trial. After three bottles I could feel a great improvement. At one time I had to lie down four or five times a day. I still take Lydia E. Athens, Ga., October 10.—(Special.)—There's a great day a-coming and it is just one day away. There'll be a hot time in the old town and it will be Saturday night.

And Friday night won't be so chilly.

The Yale team, band and supporters arrived Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. They will work out on the football field—the new Sanford stadium that has never yet felt a hostile invasion.

Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock the game is scheduled to get started—the first time Yale has ever played in the south—the first time Yale has ever traveled, save to meet a conventional eastern foe.

Athens is already past the state known to the society pages as agog. Athens is near delirium. The streets are decorated—the poles bear bunting of red and gaudy blue. The restaurants are ready with a surplus of food. The souvenir vendors are ready. There is a circus atmosphere about this staid old college town that depends on the movies and the pranks of the college freshman for amusement.

The vanguard is already here. People started arriving for the Yale game early as Wednesday. The hotel filling up. Guests with no reservations must be out by 7 o'clock in the morning. By night Friday there will not be a room in the city that is not occupied or reserved.

Yale and her team and followers will be guests at a dinner Friday night in the dining room of the hotel. It was Yale men who first took over the university here and there is a great bond between the two universities.

ASILES SOLD.

There is plenty of everything. That is, except rooms. There is plenty of parking space, plenty of food, plenty of room and some seats left. The aisles are being sold but there will be plenty of seats erected at the ends of the stadium.

Before the game Saturday there will be dedication services. The new Sanford stadium seating 35,000 and one of the most beautiful in the south, has not yet been played on. Georgia will work out on it late Friday afternoon. Yale will take a practice spin shortly after arrival at 3 o'clock.

There is a fine stand of turf on the field and everything is in readiness. A staff of officers from the military schools of Georgia will handle the crowds. They will practice ushering imaginary guests in the stadium Saturday morning.

LAST WORKOUT.

Georgia took a final scrimmage this afternoon. The squad has been showing steady improvement in stopping the Yale formations as depicted by the scrubs.

Abbie Booth, 137-pound flash in the Yale backfield, remains the greatest threat. Georgia is all primed to give Yale a mighty battle. The players feel that they can stop Booth and in stopping him believe they will stop Yale. The Blue team has had no great test this year, a private game with the navy yard team and the Vermont game being their only games—each an easy one.

The football team alone will escape it. Mehre plans to keep them in a quiet spot—if one can be found.

Cadets To Play McCallie Today

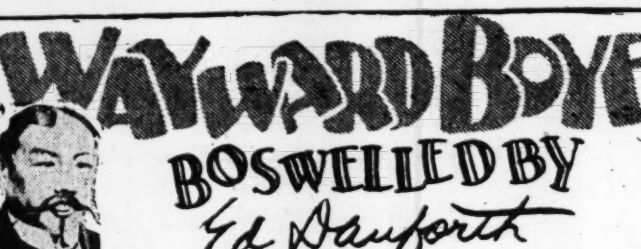

G. M. A. held a lengthy signal drill Thursday afternoon on its campus in the final preparation for today's game with McCallie High in Chattanooga. Coaches Padgett and Burdge will leave the city early this morning with 25 cadets to battle the strong McCallie eleven this afternoon.

While G. M. A. is playing McCallie, Tech High school will be holding its final workout of the week in Erie, Pa., in preparation for a game Saturday with the strong Erie academy eleven. Tech High and each has been victorious in one game. Tech High won in Erie and last year the visitors won at Spiller field.

Indian Runner Fails Against Horse

Roswell, N. M., October 10.—(AP)—"Flying Eagle," sturdy Hopi runner, today failed in his attempt to match speed and endurance in a race against "Rock," 9-year-old western cow pony, on an oval track here.

At the end of the 43d mile of a programmed 100-mile race the Indian runner fell exhausted on the dirt track and was taken to an emergency hospital. At that time he was five miles behind the Mustang.

Wayward Boye, the Man Without a Mind, rushed into the office last night with all the speed of a glacier.

"It is getting thicker," he said sadly, "or maybe I am. Take that Hiram-Case game, for instance: what can you say about that? Or the South Carolina-Maryland game, as far as that goes."

I was stumped, yet I gazed sadly on the peripatetic remains of what once was a dashing, broken field dopest.

INVENTED NIGHT FOOTBALL.

Many never have heard of it, but it is a fact, nevertheless, that Wayward Boye was the father of night football. The day after Wayward graduated from Tallulah High school, he was married to Miss Gertrude Owe, daughter of a prominent distiller.

Two years later, Wayward, while coaching at Mus-kinsum, conceived the idea of playing football after dark.

He had a set of twins on his team, Jim and Tim Malceiwicz, who played end and guard, respectively. Wayward had Jim and Tim dash down together under forward passes and while the secondary was covering Jim, the end, Tim caught the pass. It was in the days before numbers were invented and the officials could not tell which was which.

RESOURCEFUL TO A FAULT.

This play worked for two games until an official, who was a graduate of Oxford, checked up to see where the forward pass receiver lined up for the next play.

If he went in at guard, he promptly penalized Wayward's team half the distance to the goal line for roughing.

Wayward solved this by having the twin that received the pass line up at end on the next play, regardless. Another triumph for the old master mind.

DIZZY WITH SUCCESS.

Yet Wayward was not satisfied. He wanted to be able to throw passes to anybody. The plan of having the receiver line up at end on the next play appealed to his tactical sense. So he invented night football.

To disguise his players he had each wear a large patch of adhesive tape on each cheek. In the half light, the disguise was perfect.

Soon Wayward's team was throwing passes in scrimmage to tackles, centers and guards regardless. Each time the pass receiver lined up at end. It looked like a lock.

THE PASSING SHIFT.

The night of the big game fell dark and cloudy. The electric lamps made a valley of light in the big stadium as Mus-kingum met Abilene for the championship.

Abilene kicked off over the goal line and Wayward's team took the ball on their 20-yard mark. On the first down Wayward's team threw a pass which was caught by the center and he ran to the 1-yard line before being tackled.

The center promptly came back and lined up at left end. This put the left guard over the ball. On the first snap the guard passed a beautiful spiral 35 yards over the fullback's head. It was recovered by a Muskingum cheer leader. Third down, 36 yards to go.

On the next play, they passed to the right tackle

Carey and Bancroft Released by 'Robby'

New York, October 10.—(AP)—Official announcement of the unconditional release of Max Carey and Dave Bancroft by Manager Wilbert Robinson, of the Brooklyn Robins, was made today at the office of the club.

Carey, veteran outfielder, had been with Brooklyn since 1926 when he was acquired from Pittsburgh. Of late he had been used chiefly in an advisory capacity and as coach.

Bancroft, who played shortstop, came to the Robins in 1928 from Boston where he had managed the Braves since 1923.

MARIST SINKS TYPISTS, 34-12

Two Long Runs in Third Quarter Feature Prep Game.

Two spectacular 65 and 60-yard runs within three plays of each other in the third quarter featured Marist's 34-to-12 victory over Commercial High Thursday afternoon at Spiller field.

After holding Marist for downs early in the first quarter Commercial started a steady, consistent drive that netted 45 yards and a touchdown. Dennis and Carrington were the shining lights in the backfield and Dennis carried the ball over for a score.

In the second quarter Marist recovered the ball on its own 10-yard line and drove to the 2-yard line where Commercial held for downs. Commercial punted and Van Houten ran the punt back 20 yards for a touchdown. Marist then began another drive that netted a touchdown. Carrington's brilliant run was made without the aid of any interference, while May was given plenty of aid through the line of scrimmage and also through the secondary. Carrington started like a flash, momentarily stopped to ward off a tackler, started again, warded off another tackler and then outran the Marist safety man.

A's Set To Resume Cub Massacre Today

Chicago Determined To Stop Rush of Athletics—Third Game Opens at Philly.

Philadelphia, October 10.—(United News.)—A great Philadelphia ball club, one of the best of Connie Mack's long regime, came home today prepared to put the finishing touches upon a world series triumph at the expense of the discomfited Chicago Cubs.

The Athletics laid the foundation for this long-sought world championship with two convincing victories in the first two games at Chicago. The master masons who helped lay the groundwork, Howard Ehmke, "Lefty" Grove, Jimmy Foxe and the others, were all ready to go to work on the hapless Cubs again tomorrow afternoon, out at Shibe park, where 40,000 joyous Philadelphia fans will enjoy the proceedings.

Downcast but determined, the National league champions will try once more to cut down the rivals' early advantage, perhaps even to build up a world championship of their own.

The weather looked favorable tonight for prompt resumption of the world series at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow. From a baseball point of view, everything pointed to a speedy termination of the post-season engagement with the complete rout of the Chicago Cubs.

No National league representative has been able to win a world series game from its American league opponents in 10 successive starts. There is nothing about the appearance of the Chicago Cubs to indicate that they will change the order of things at this late date.

CAN BE DONE.

But strange things happen in baseball, and teams have rallied ere this to snatch spectacular victory from the jaws of apparently inevitable defeat. The Athletics will not be world champions until the last man goes out in the final game. Meanwhile, they have made a very good start in the right direction.

Charley Root looks to be Chicago's main dependence to stem the rising tide of Athletics' victory. The veteran right-hander, who led the National league pitchers this past season, was getting along rather well in the opening game when removed to make room for a pinch hitter. Root allowed but one run, a homer by Jimmy Foxe. He might have won that game if he had been left in. He might win this game, too.

MACK'S SITUATION.

Connie Mack, of course, has so many pitchers he hardly knows what to do. But trust Connie to think of something before game time.

Thus far the outstanding feature of the 1929 world series has been Mack's selection of Howard Ehmke to pitch the opening game. All Ehmke did was to set a new world series record for strikeouts as he beat the Cubs, 3 to 1.

McGillivuddy's part, the most remarkable thing about the affair has been the collapse of the National league champions, who were rated a strong, aggressive ball club for any man's money before the series began.

Howard Ehmke struck out no fewer than 13 of the Cubs in the opening game, and George Earnshaw and "Lefty" Grove together set down a like number in the second game, which Philadelphia won, 9 to 3. Thus 26 times the famous National league sluggers have fanned in two games, which not only constitutes a world series record, but speaks pretty poorly for Joe McCarthy's ball club.

NEED PITCHING.

If the Cubs can get good enough pitching to keep the Athletics within reasonable bounds at Shibe park, there probably will be found sufficient batting punch against the short fence to beat out at least one victory. But the pitching may not materialize. If Root hasn't got the stuff, it's all off for the Mackmen. They have looked over every other Chicago pitcher and have found none of them particularly effective.

Art Nehf, of course, wasn't in there long enough to count, and Sheriff Blake may do better.

NEW YORK U. MEETS FORDHAM SATURDAY

New York, October 10.—New York university and Fordham university have been, in effect, playing each other all week. The teams meet on Saturday, and scrub squads have been using offensive plays of their respective rivals in practice. Coach Mehan, of N. Y. U., and Coach Kavanaugh, of Fordham, have expressed satisfaction at improvement of their defenses.

FANS WELCOME A'S BACK HOME

Staid Quaker City Jubilant as Confident Team Arrives.

Philadelphia, October 10.—(P)—Tingling with pride, Philadelphia stirred today in the brisk sunshine of perfect football weather, shook out crests and uniforms, made final desperate demands for tickets—and settled back complacently to wait the second stage of the world series of 1929.

As the triumphant Athletics of Connie Mack rushed home from Chicago with two straight victories over the Cubs to present home town fans the jubilation of the warriors themselves leaped on ahead to the staid Old Quaker city. Everywhere—in the crowds on spacious Broad street, the lobbies of hotels already jammed, business houses and knots of plain rooters on the street corners—ran the same happy confidence in the American league champions.

With their backs literally lined up to the walls of Shibe Park, the grim but determined Chicago Cubs came into town at 12:22 p. m., with a small, amiable crowd to greet them at the station. The hapless little gaggle among Manager Joe McCarthy's warriors and the tenseness of the situation showed in their taciturnity and bearing.

The third game of the series opens at Shibe Park tomorrow with the fourth game Saturday, and the fifth, if necessary, on Monday. The Cubs said there would be a fifth, sixth and even a seventh game, despite the smashing triumphs of the A's in the first two clashes in the Midwest.

Although the Cubs had planned to work out this afternoon on the battlefield of the Athletics, Manager McCarthy ordered the team direct to their hotel. Nothing more than lunch and rest was prescribed for the afternoon.

McCarthy himself strode about with a mystic air among the National league champions, the sort of aloofness that might indicate either deep thought or a sort of ungodly shell-shock from the roaring of the Athletics' big guns in Chicago. He refused to allow his boys to pose for photographers.

"I can't say I'm going to pitch tomorrow," he said. "I'm going to try being mysterious like Connie Mack."

Although Philadelphia gave only passing attention to the arrival of the Cubs, saying enthusiasm for the incoming home town heroes later, the series as a whole seemed to be on every mind. The talk was of nothing else.

Out at the ball park, the finishing touches were put on the playing field. Competitors for the 1,200 bleacher seats available lined up shortly after midnight amid the usual scenes of blankets, rocking chairs, and open fires. The line grew to a few handfulls through the day.

The final word of the weatherman brought forth the ungodly shell-shock from the host of street corner managers that Lefty Grove, who baffled the Cubs in the final of Wednesday's victory, would pitch for the Athletics tomorrow.

"There will be no rain," the forecaster said. "But it will be cloudy, fairly dark, and brisk at 55 to 57 degrees."

Being a fan, he also decided those were perfect conditions for Lefty's famed "fireball." Very likely he will know as much as anyone until caggy Connie actually sends a hurler to the mound tomorrow.

Rome High Loses To Cartersville

Rome, Ga., October 10.—In a game featured by recovered fumbles and intercepted passes, a heavy Cartersville eleven defeated Rome High here this afternoon, 6-0.

The lone touchdown came in the third quarter when Smith, of Cartersville, intercepted a pass deep in the Rome territory.

JACKETS FACE STRONG FOE IN TARHEEL CREW

Visitors' Great Offense Meace to Engineers. Title at Stake.

The red flare in the west augured a red, red war this afternoon at the Flats when the Tarheels and the Jackets meet in what is expected to be the most torrid conflict of the 1929 season.

The kick-off is scheduled for 2:30 o'clock. It will be the first time in months that a Georgia Tech team has little better than an even chance. The best minds agree the game will be close, with Tech holding a shade advantage and the Tarheels an excellent chance to win.

STRONG ATTACK.

For whether they deserve it or not the Tarheels, sweeping through Wake Forest, annihilating the Maryland Old Liners have established themselves as the greatest offensive team in the conference.

It will be the gargantuan form of Vance Mearce, the reformed tackle, which must bear the brunt of the attack this afternoon.

It requires no soothsayer, no clairvoyant to occult process to determine that.

PASS ATTACK.

North Carolina is sure to launch a pass attack in the territory which Vance Mearce guards. They will harry him with every known form of offense. For they believe that the big fellow is out of his natural element at fullback—that he is a fish out of water. And despite his huge bulk and his fighting heart they believe that they can surge over him with passes and out-back runs and march to victory.

This game this afternoon does augur a red, red conflict. It should produce the most desperate fighting of the year, come what may. The Jackets will be fighting with weapons that are not yet sharpened, with powder that is still a bit damp. They will meet a team possessing more veterans, more experience.

COLLINS DENIES.

Coach Collins, of Carolina, quiet and modest, declares Tech, the natural favorite today. All the more does he agree it since Wyrick, his regular quarterback and house, his fullback, are out with injuries.

He will intrust his quarterback to Johnnie Branch, a quiet, big-eyed young sophomore who has been dubbed a second Stumpy Thomson. He hasn't Thomson's weight and he hasn't his experience. He can, however, throw.

The remainder of his line-up will be the same that has started in the two earlier games this fall. It includes six veterans in the line who have played in two Tech games and lost them both. They are six of the seven veterans who found what they could do in the Tech game last fall at Chapel Hill. They carried the Brit 30 yards three times in the last half. Once they fumbled and lost the ball. Once they were held for downs. Once they scored a touchdown.

There are Holt and Adkins at tackle and Captain Farris and Eskew at guard. Holt is a senior, the center, was a reserve last fall, was a reserve last fall.

FARRIS GREAT.

"Farris is a great guard," said Chuck Collins. "We have just a fair football team. We are the victims of the Maryland press agents who sent out word that we were the greatest team in the south simply because we found them easy. We have just one great player, Farris. He could step onto any football field in the country and win himself a place. Otherwise we have nothing."

Governors To See Tech-Tarheel Game

A number of notables will witness the Tech-Tarheel game here this afternoon before proceeding on to the Yale-Georgia game at Athens on Saturday.

Governor Bibb Graves, of Alabama, a Yale man, will be neutral today. Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York; Governor O. Max Gardner, of North Carolina; Governor Harry Byrd, of Virginia; and Governor L. G. Hardman, of Georgia, will occupy seats of honor this afternoon at Grant field.

They will be the guests of Dr. M. L. Brittain at the Capital City Club hotel at lunch. Dr. Brittain is president of Georgia Tech.

Russell Beats Douglasville, 7-0

Douglasville, Ga., October 10.—(Special.)—Russell High school, of East Point, defeated Douglasville High school, 7 to 0, here this afternoon, when Bond, Russell, fullback, ran 40 yards to a score early in the fourth quarter. It was a spectacular run and was started from an off-tackle buck.

The visitors had several opportunities to score but lacked the necessary punch. They were within the 15-yard line at least four times and each time failed to score.

Russell made a total of 24 first downs, including seven long gains, while Douglasville made only two first downs. Bond made a 30 and a 35-yard run in addition to his touchdown sprint, but was halted when near the goal line. Clay, an aide to Bond in the visiting backfield, made three long gains of 30, 15 and 15 yards, respectively, and Gordon, at halfback, made a neat gain of 20 yards.

Valdosta Plays Sylvester Today

Valdosta, Ga., October 10.—Local gridiron interest is centering in the meeting Friday between the Valdosta High school team and the Valdosta Wildcats. The battle will be staged on the high school grid in this city before a large crowd of fans.

The meeting last week between the Wildcats and Quitman High whetted the appetites of the fans to a point of keenness. Both Valdosta and Quitman went on the gridiron for the first time this season and both were soft. Now it is the opinion of Valdosta football fans that the Wildcats will need sharp claws and extra agility for the meeting Friday with Sylvester.

This week has been spent in endeavoring to build up the weak places that developed during the primary encounter.

It requires numerous second-raters to make a world and to bring out the fact that the first-raters are just that. In the cauliflower industry, in particular, they must have the second-raters in great profusion, otherwise how would the first-raters, in the words of the more or less immortal John L. Sullivan, "go and get themselves a reputation?"

In the manly art of modified murder most of the second-raters are drab, colorless and melancholy figures with something lacking in the way of courage. Otherwise they would not be second-raters, who also serve though they only stand and take it on the chin.

There are two or three second-raters in the cauliflower industry who should have been born for a better fate. One of these is Charles Chuckling Wiggins, a gay and courageous old trooper of the rosin trail. Another is Tom Heeneey, former soldier with the Anzacs and a game and good-humored gladiator of the second class.

In his heart Heeneey always felt that he was a second-rater, and this might have had some influence upon making him that. Still, Tom headed the second class, when the promoters were looking around to find a final victim for Gene Tunney. Second-rater though he was, he demonstrated that at least he was better than all of those in his class who were hunting the chance to get the loser's end of Tunney's last fight.

I am quite sure that Heeneey did not feel that he had much chance with Tunney, for the second-rater cannot altogether conquer a certain awe for the reputation of the first-rater. But Tom went in and did his best. No second-rater could do more.

Tunney had Charles Chuckling Wiggins for a sparring partner when he was training for the second fight with Dempsey. A friend of the champion said that Wiggins was a rough and unconventional boxer who was quite likely to do the unexpected thing in sparring and might make Tunney look ridiculous before the experts at the camp.

"To which Tunney retorted, 'I know that. I have fought him. But if Wiggins can show me up in training, what is the use of going in against Dempsey?' That is just why I want Wiggins. He keeps me alert for the unexpected."

Just a few days before the date set for the Battle of Slightly Less Than Three Million at Chicago Wiggins was in the final work-outs, jabbed a thumb into Tunney's eye and almost blinded him. Tunney did not rise in his wrath and fire the sparring partner. Instead he said, "I should have been watching closer. That taught me something."

When Heeneey after the Tunney fight was picked as a sort of trial horse in the process of building up Victorio Campolo, who subsequently demonstrated that he could not be built up, Tom became confidential and voiced the philosophy of the second-rater.

"I know that I cannot shape up with the top-notchers like Tunney and Dempsey," he said. "But I think that I can beat a lot of the others who are in my class."

He was resigned to being a second-rater. But the other night in the bout with young George Hoffman, Heeneey decided that he no longer

Faithful Bleacherites Resemble Jail Birds

Pegler Says Frowny Bums Replace Loyal Fans of Romance in Seat Line.

Philadelphia, Penn., October 10.—One sees much romantic literature in the papers about the Spaulding devotion of the faithful bleacherite who sits on an orange crate outside the wall of ball park for 48 hours before the ticket sale begins. Your correspondent has just returned from the Athletics' ball park and he will state that the faithful bleacherites who are sitting on the crates outside there are as frowny a gang of bums as ever crowded the bull-pen of a holdover jail.

They sit in a line about half a block long with a detail of police under captain to keep them in order, bundled in raveling sweaters and crumby blankets, smoking cigarets and stewing the butts and the stink of their sandwich meals at their feet. The types are reminiscent of the unwashed, unemployed and unemployable guests who used to infest that den of smells, despondency and wretchedness, Hogan's Flap, the nickel-a-night refuge of the bum in Chicago. Dirty, scruffy and gay with the defiant indifference of the abandoned bum, they seem to have crawled out of the flops of Philadelphia's rather extensive region of slums, where they have been for years and second-hand shoe stores, and they are holding their places out of no devotion to Connie Mack or the head of the line but rather grandiose ideas of the value of their places as they are asking $25 just now, with another night of waiting remaining, which probably means that they will want $30 by morning. Of course, they will not get $30 or even $25, but no doubt there are 200 patrons without reserved seats who will be willing to pay as much as $10 or $15 for places so far advanced as to assure them dollar admissions to the outfield seats when the sale begins tomorrow.

The papers today printed a picture of a faithful lady bleacherite sitting in a rocking chair among the faithful gentlemen bleacherites, but knowing several photographers myself, I suspect that the boys hustled a rocking chair out of the parlor of one of the shabby houses which line the other side of the street for a nominal rental and got one of the neighborhood girls to sit for her photograph in return for the momentary fame which they were in a position to give her.

Perhaps they promised to tell Zukor about her and get her in the movies, as they often do. At any rate, there was no faithful lady bleacherite in line when I was there.

EMERGENCY BLEACHERS.
On the yonder side of the other street abutting the bleachers the street where the roofs of a rundown row of dingy brick dwellings overlook the wall and the playing field, carpenters were at work on quite ambitious emergency bleachers this evening under the direction of the proprietors, preparing for a rush of business tomorrow. Lumber wagons had dropped piles of beams and planks along the curb and the carpenters were building false roofs of heavy lumber and on them tiers of bleacher seats, while stout, blowy ladies of the type who sell hotdogs at bathing beaches hurried them to get the job done before morning. The honest householders in that row have turned many a dollar this season selling space on the roofs to customers, content with snipped views of the ball games, but when the world series approached there was some dispute as to whether the walls of the old houses would support the weight of formal bleachers with full loads of customers. It seems to have been decided that the walls are strong enough for this and by tomorrow afternoon the customers will know whether the engineers were right or wrong.

The baseball players are intensely interested in the financial statistics of the world series and on the train from Chicago to Philadelphia, Mr. Connie Mack's well-mannered young men perused the box office reports quite as earnestly as they studied box scores. Young Mr. Simmons, a Polish boy from Milwaukee, who went to work at a tender age because his father died, later becoming a professional ball player, ran his eyes over the item, "Players' share $236,006.46," and leaned back with an expression of rapture.

"I am very fond of our national game," Mr. Simmons said. His fondness will grow considerably before winter sets in, because he and Jimmy Fox, the young catcher opener from the Maryland eastern shore, are going on tour after the world series, playing ball games on a long itinerary reaching to the Pacific slope at a guarantee rate of $1,000 per game with an option on 60 per cent of the gross. Thus far James has hit two home runs and Al has hit one himself and the boys realize that these feats will do their show no harm in the leaky roof ball parks within the next month.

STORIES COME EASY.
The cares of journalism, in which most of them are technically engaged for the period of the world series, weigh lightly on them. I see articles in the papers attributed to almost all members of the club, but I have yet to detect any of these journalists sparing with a typewriter or even chewing a pencil except to figure out 60 per cent of 60 per cent of some theoretical player's share and divide that by 25 to arrive at a theoretical approximation of their dividends if they win. Jimmy Fox, one of the most prolific of the authors, received a compliment on this morning's composition as the Philadelphia papers were thrown aboard the train over in western Pennsylvania.

"That was a very fine article of yours," said Mr. Ralph Perkins, the aged catcher of 32. "Thank you very much," said Mr. Fox, much pleased. "What does it say?"

Howard Ehmke, the large, loose-limbed pitcher who struck out 13 hitters in the first game, probably won considerably more than one ball game in so doing it for it seems quite likely that he will now be retained with the ball club for at least one more year. There was no likelihood of that before he pitched in the world series. His wife, a delicate girl who has been ill all summer, is improving now and in general you might say that things are looking up for the Ehmkes.

PAIS FOREVER.
Howard and Simmons were ostentatiously chummy on the train, wishing to be a published report that they had fallen out and that this rumor was responsible for Ehmke's omission from the team when the Athletics made their last western trip of the season.

"We have always been pals, haven't we, Al?" Mr. Ehmke said, winding his valuable pitching arm around Mr. Simmons' neck in an affectionate way.

"Pals?" exclaimed Mr. Simmons.

Clark U. Preps For Miles Game

With the Miles Memorial football game only two days off, the Clark university football squad went through a light workout Thursday afternoon on Clark athletic field. Only one scrimmage was held throughout the week and no injuries have been reported.

Coach Taylor, head mentor for the Atlanta eleven, stated that a light signal drill is booked today. The squad is in the best of condition, both physically and mentally.

As far as morale is concerned, the Clark outfit realize that the squad which comes here from Birmingham is no set-up but will be an aggregation that fights to the last minute. The team, which was rated one of the weakest in the conference, has been revamped by high school players and last year's ineligible.

Miles Memorial college football aggregation will arrive in Atlanta this afternoon for the Clark game.

Clark university, with a new line, considered by experts to be much stronger than the forward wall of last year, will meet its acid test in Minor, triple-threat man for the invaders.

A special section of the grandstand will be set aside to accommodate the white fans who will witness the game here Saturday. Tickets for the game can be secured only at the business office of Clark university, on the campus.

Teams Will Clash Under Lights—Parade To Precede Game.

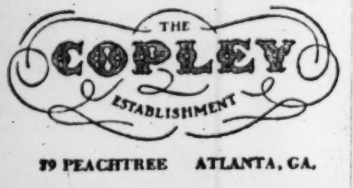

Auburn, Ala., October 10.—The final workout of the week for the Auburn Tigers on Drake field was a scrimmage against the rats and scrubs. The Tigers, 27 in all, will leave Auburn Friday afternoon for Montgomery where they will encounter the University of Florida fighting 'Gators in Dixie's first southern conference night game.

The Plainsmen will arrive in Montgomery at 8 o'clock where they will go promptly to Cranton hotel and dress for the game which begins at 8 o'clock. The return trip to the plains will be made right after the game as classes will be held Saturday.

Alternate Captain Porter Callahan, Chappelle, Crawford, Davidson, Granger, Hatfield, Jones, Prim, Tammplin, Wimble, Young and Yarbrough are the ball carriers that are being carried to the scene of the battle. The linesmen include Captain Howell.

Gordon Engages Richmond Team

Barnesville, Ga., October 9.—The Gordon Cadet team has a tough encounter Friday, when it meets the crack Richmond Academy team from Augusta. The bad weather and the lateness of the beginning to practice has caused the team to be at a disadvantage so far, but the boys now are hard at practice. The team, although lighter than last years, has some good players and is starting out with nine of last year's lettermen.

The Richmond Academy team is an unusually strong team and an especially heavy one, and Gordon will have to play its best. The remaining schedule for the team is: Columbus, October 18; Riverside, October 25; Cochran, November 1; L. G. I., November 8; Douglas, November 15; University School for Boys, November 21; G. M. C. November 28.

Big Ten Teams Open Race Today for Grid Championship

Zuppke Predicts Close Title Chase

Eight Teams Will See Action This Afternoon in Conference Games.

By Robert G. Zuppke,
University of Illinois Football Coach.

(Written Exclusively for The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance.)
Eight of the Big Ten football teams swing into action against each other tomorrow, opening a campaign likely to be as closely contested and as much in doubt as last year's.

Time was when the Western conference had several eleven which could be regarded as set-ups, but those days apparently are gone forever. Although one may hazard predictions, based on his knowledge of the respective strength of the teams which meet this week, victory may perch on the banners of any of the eleven engaged. I do not except the Chicago-Indiana engagement, although the Maroons have been written off the slate by almost everybody.

In an opening round like this all the teams will lack the degree of finish they will display later. Sophomores and other inexperienced players will not act decisively and will not be able to size up the intentions of opponents as easily as they will with time. Nobody, except the coaches, knows how much the new men have to learn.

EARLY FAULTS.

Then there is the problem of the veteran player in early games. Sometimes he will revert to the bad habits of play he had when he first reported. The coach has contrived to replace them by "good" habits, which means that the player has been taught to do this thing and that in the right manner, but often the incorrect method is second nature and crops out at the start of the season.

Another difficulty with the veterans is that he is likely to become soft mentally and regard himself as letter perfect. The best antidote is sufficient sophomore competition to make the older player worry about his place, but this happy situation is seldom

Tulane Has Coffee Between Halves

New Orleans, October 10.—(Special.)—What goes on in the football dressing rooms is always an interesting question. It is different at Tulane university than anywhere else in America. The first thing the Greenies always do when they go to the room at halftime is to drink a steaming cup of black coffee, made and served by Trainer Monk Simons. This has been the custom of Tulane for years. New Orleans coffee is famous to the last drop, on football days as well as at other times.

Irish and Navy Clash Saturday

South Bend, Ind., October 10.—(United News.)—Notre Dame will meet the Navy in an important sectional clash at Baltimore Saturday without the presence of its guiding genius, Knute Rockne, on the sidelines.

The Notre Dame coach was laid up in a wheel chair at his home this afternoon when the team entrained for the Navy game in charge of Assistant Coach Tom Lieb. A blood congestion in his right leg was Rockne's ailment. Early this week he had to limp onto the playing field to tutor his charges in Navy formations, and Tuesday and Wednesday, when the eleven drilled indoors, Rockne sat in a chair, undergoing excruciating pain, gamely barking his instructions to the players. This is the first time that Rockne has missed a game since 1926, when Notre Dame was beaten at Pittsburgh by Carnegie Tech. The announcement that he was ill was a blow to the Notre Dame fans, who believe that the bald figure down on one knee at the sidelines, watching the ebb and flow of battle, is an assurance of victory.

Wade Drills Crimson Hard for Moccasins

Giant Backfield of Holm, McRight, Long and Boykin Click Well in Practice.

University, Ala., October 10.—Thursday was just another day for members of Alabama's Crimson Tide. It was another day of polishing up for the Chattanooga affray Saturday, as well as for the major conflicts just a few weeks ahead.

Coach Wade was still running a giant backfield with the first string. Ralph McRight, the big blocking gentleman, was barking the signals. Leon Long and David Boykin were at the halves, and Tony Holm was at full.

The sight of almost half a ton of beef clicking together in the backfield was a sight for sore eyes. McRight is slightly bigger than Holm, and the others are all of the Holm size, with Leon Long rating the smallest in the rear works. However, Long, at about 175, is perhaps the most vicious tackler on the squad.

Two varsity teams scrimmaged two frosh outfits most of the afternoon, with tackling and blocking out out of most of the play. About the most important change in the practice lineup was noticed in the second team, where Jeff Bush, sophomore back, who has been out of all the games because of a dislocated collar bone, took over the signal-calling post. His mates were Hugh Barr Miller, the drop-kicker, at right half; Ben Smith at left half, and Joe Bowers at full. Freddy Sington, first string tackle, was still playing at whipping guard on the first team.

Leader.

George Fisher, outfielder bought by the Giants from Buffalo, has been with the Bisons four seasons and before that was with Minneapolis. He was one of the leading home-run hitters this year.

Vols Look Good Against Rats

Knoxville, October 10.—The Orange and White warriors of Tennessee went through a very impressive workout today in preparation for their first conference battle of the season Saturday when Homer Hazle brings his Ole Miss squad to Knoxville.

With a stubborn freshman team offering opposition, Gene McEver and Buddy Hackman ran rampant. Day by day, in every way, the Hack and Mack combination seems to get better and better. After Neel had stamped his approval on the running attack Bobbie Dodd opened up with a series of passes that fell into the waiting arms of Brant and Hug. Vol ends, almost every time. McEver and Hackman also hurried a few short passes.

Hazle's men will have a tough afternoon if the McEver-Hackman partnership clicks as it did today.

Texas Receives Rousing Sendoff

Austin, Texas, October 10.—(AP.)—Students of the University of Texas assembled at the Katy station here late today to give the Loughorn football squad a rousing sendoff on its trip to Fayetteville, Ark., where Texas will meet the University of Arkansas Saturday in the season's opening game of the Southwest conference.

Clyde Littlefield, head coach; Nill James, line mentor; Dr. C. P. Hardwick, "Kel" Kelly, trainer, and Johnnie Keel, manager, accompanied the 28 members of the squad.

The probable starting lineup of the Texas squad is Rose and Vining, ends; Cordy Brown and Emerson, tackles; Neely and Baumgarten, guards; Burnett, center; Rees, quarterback; Beard and Shelley, halfbacks, and Beaulier, fullback.

Van Ryn Wins At Mexico City

Mexico City, October 10.—(United News.)—John Van Ryn, East Orange, N. J., and Ben Gorkachoff, California, advanced to the semi-final round of the Mexican national tennis championships by winning their quarter-final matches in the men's singles today.

Van Ryn defeated Ignacio Dela Borcholla, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2, and Gorkachoff defeated Ricardo Tapia, 6-1, 9-7, 4-6, 7-5.

Fritz Mercier, Bethlehem, Pa., and J. Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J., won a quarter-final doubles match from Miguel Llano and Rafael Coghal, 3-6, 6-2, 6-2, 6-4.

Snodgrass, starting center last year, is nursing a badly sprained ankle, and may not even make the trip, while Tilson, first-string substitute center and tackle, received a badly wrenched ankle in practice today.

Martin, guard, who has started both games this year, may not start, due to a bothersome muscular bruise.

Columbus, Ohio, October 10.—(United News.)—Athletic officials at Ohio State university tonight were at a loss to explain the announced "retirement" of Clarence "Red" Ohaner, varsity fullback, who turned in his uniform today and announced that he had decided to give up football. Ohaner declined to elaborate on his statement and members of the coaching staff could not explain his action. He was a letterman for two years and regarded as the Buckeye's best fullback.

Splitting Conference Into Two Divisions Is Recommended

PLAN IS SEEN AS GREAT HELP TO GRID TEAMS

Winners of Two Sections Would Meet in Title Series Each Season.

(Note: Following is an article written by David Lidman in the Richmond Times-Dispatch on a proposed split of the Southern football conference into two divisions, with the winners of each section meeting in a post-season game for the championship.)

By David Lidman.

Richmond, Va., October 10. Has been heard of the once-discussed dividing up of the Southern football conference.

Once upon a time this was a much-talked-of topic, but of late it apparently has been discarded.

The Southern conference is the largest football league in the country, numbering 23 teams, with the addition of Duke to the schedule this year.

The plan, as I originally recall it, was to divide the circuit into two divisions, north and south, the winners of each section to play for the southern title.

Something like a split season in baseball.

In this manner, conference teams would have to make shorter jumps, would be able to play more conference games, as schedules could be arranged much better, and would tend to make the conference grind a real championship battle.

Along with this plan, one or two more universities could be added to the conference, to make the schedule a little more balanced.

Here is my suggestion for the split-up:

NORTHERN DIVISION.
Virginia, V. M. I., Maryland, V. P. I., North Carolina State, Washington and Lee, North Carolina, Duke, South Carolina, Clemson, *William and Mary, *University of Richmond.

SOUTHERN DIVISION.
Georgia Tech, Georgia, Alabama, Auburn, Vanderbilt, Tennessee, Sewanee, Kentucky, Florida, Tulane, L. S. U., Mississippi, Mississippi A. and M.

*Suggested new members.

SEES COMPACT GROUP.
Here, then, are two leagues battling for the southern football title. Scheduled for the season.

was a good second-rater. Consequently, he announced his permanent retirement from the prizefighting.

Heaney had the pride of a self-respecting second-rater. He would not remain in the game until he placed himself in the class of the third-raters. At that, he was the gayest and most gallant of the second-raters, and that is something.

Boat Race Reform.

There will be no more boat races in the dark on the Hudson or on the Thames. After that weird but spectacular race on the Hudson, with half of the shells foundering in a choppy river in opaque shadows, the stewards in charge of the race decided that the event would no longer wait for time or tide or the whims of the coaches, the latter being the most powerful influence in delaying the start.

Harvard has just announced that the Harvard crew will be ready to start any and all of its races by 1 o'clock in the afternoon. It is more than likely that some rule of this sort will be adopted by all of the colleges in the east where they have crews.

The delay and the rough water at the Poughkeepsie race demonstrated that this year's Columbia crew was one of the greatest ever boated on the Hudson. With all the other crews foundering around in the dark and sinking in sections, the Columbia crew moved on rhythmically and smoothly to the finish line, while the California crew, the champions of the previous year, moved nowhere in particular.

In this race the Columbians furnished all the evidence to prove that they had a great crew. A great crew is one that can row in any sort of water and under any sort of water conditions. There are many good fair-weather crews, but for an all-around crew for smooth water, rough water, live water, dead water or any kind of water that makes a course, Columbia's crew stood out last year.

There is no reason why crews should not take their chances with the weather and the course, as do the athletes in other sports, with the exception of baseball, which seems to have become a pastime for the housewife athletes.

Fashions in Football.

Football experts are already conceding the sartorial championship of the gridiron to New York university, the players of which institution once were known as the shrinking violets. But the process of shrinking stopped abruptly when Chick Meehan arrived at the university and joined forces with Al Nixon.

Other teams who want to know what the well-dressed young football player should wear are watching the New York university training field. Sartorial scouts from eastern and western colleges have been lurking around the campus trying to get a line on the latest color formations of N. Y. U. It is hinted that Mr. Meehan, in an attempt to throw off the trail, has in reserve a color scheme that will bewilder the opponents when New York university goes into a really tough spot on the football schedule.

But it is a little early to concede the football sartorial championship to any team at this writing. The Army will come out in uniform the color of burnished gold, and my color experts have not yet reported on the effect of the change in color scheme. It will take until mid-season before anything really authoritative will be available along these lines.

Then there are the middle west, the coast and the south to be heard from. Several of the universities of the middle west are engaging in color competition not only for the championship of the conference but with a view of competing even with the football modistes of the east. Do not call Mr. Meehan the Poiret of football coaches until he has finished the season.

SOUTH FACING FINE WEEK-END

Fans Arriving for Tech-Tarheel, Yale-Georgia Tilts.

By Eddie Brietz.

Associated Press Sports Writer. Dixie's biggest football movement in its history got underway last night when the first of 23 special trains rolled into Atlanta loaded with ticket holders to the Yale-Georgia inter-collegiate game at Athens Saturday and the North Carolina-Georgia Tech clash at Atlanta today.

The Athens extravaganza is the week's premier attraction in the south, but the meeting of Tech and North Carolina, in which championship hopes of two of the foremost contenders in the conference are at stake, is playing a josty second fiddle in interest and importance.

This game, well supported by the Florida-Auburn tilt under the floodlights at Montgomery, and the Clemson-North Carolina State scrap at Florence, S. C., will serve as a prelude to the main events under Saturday's big top.

GREAT BATTLE.

Storm warnings are out at Georgia Tech. North Carolina, with the best team developed in the northern end of the conference in many years, is invading Grant field with a much better than fair chance of bumping the 1928 champions off.

The Carolina team arrived Thursday and took a brisk workout. It appears to be much more advanced in its training than the Golden Tornado. With two victories under their belt, the Tarheels are the only team on the Tech schedule with an uncrossed goal line.

The Florida Alligators, who got the scare of their young lives from V. M. I. last week, will be strictly up against it when they tackle Auburn Saturday. The two regular line stars were left in Gainesville and the Alligators will be forced to take the field with a patched-up forward wall.

TIGERS ROAR.

Coach Josh Cody's powerful Clemson Tigers, who have rolled up a total of 127 points in three games so far, will be after their fourth straight victory and their second against a conference foe in their contest with the remodeled Wolfpack of North Carolina Saturday.

Two S. I. A. A. contests and eight smaller engagements round out Friday's program. Presbyterian College meets Furman at Greenville, S. C., and Wofford entertains Erskine at Spartanburg, in the S. I. A. A. games. Both of which were moved up from Saturday as a gesture to the Georgia-Yale spectacle.

Anderson and Russo Winners at Lakewood

Opening Day Of Auto Races Sees Exciting Events—Special Features For Today.

Oscar "Swede" Anderson, the Michigan "speedy buddy," and Joe Russo, the Italian racing star, broke into the limelight at the Southeastern Fair auto races yesterday afternoon by each copping a major event on the program.

Anderson won the International Sweepstakes finals after a victory in a qualifying heat and Russo won the Southeastern Motor Derby. Russo drove Swan Peterson's Frontenac as Peterson was ill and unable to race Thursday. The five finishing cars wheeled down the stretch to the tape with only five or six car lengths separating the winner from the tail-ender.

Russo, George Young and Bendite De Paulo had a nip and tuck battle throughout the entire race, with Louis Schneider threatening in the seventh lap of the nine-mile event but unable to come through the closely packed cars in front.

Schneider, starting from scratch, made an attempt to overcome the lead of the field and put the stands in a furore by his nifty piloting although unable to register a victory.

Sudden appearance of Sig Haugdahl on the track Thursday afternoon with a declaration that he would compete Friday and Saturday in the Lakewood races, put added pep to the program. Haugdahl will have his Miller in the events, and with the popularity he has earned here in the past should prove a big drawing card.

Thursday was a day of surprises. Don Voge, 17, a Detroit driver, appeared on the track shortly before starting time as a surprise entry with a front-wheel drive car and proved the sensation of the day with his great driving.

He led the field in the first heat of the International Sweepstakes almost to the tape and Anderson had a hard time to halt Mrs. Solomon's car. The race was a close one, the two cars circling each other in the penultimate lap.

Entry of Haugdahl, Voge and Speedy Goff, of Birmingham, puts the field up to 17. Detroit drivers for today's races, which will start promptly this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and will be featured by the Governor's Day Derby and the Georgia Press.

George Lyons, remembered for his great racing here on July 4, made a fine showing. He won second in the sweepstakes race and was second to Anderson in the time trials. Russo won a heat of the sweepstakes and Glenn Price, of Detroit, took second place in the time trials. Voge finished third in the sweepstakes event and Schneider came in fourth.

George Young captured second place in the derby race, in which he placed third in the sweepstakes event and Arch Powell, fifth.

The Governor's Day Derby in three heats gives every indication today of being a hot race. There will be six events on the program with Haugdahl as the added attraction.

There was plenty of new blood injected in yesterday's races and will be again today. The fans seemed to take to this with favor. They gave Voge, Price, Schneider and De Paulo plenty of encouragement, although Anderson and Russo registered the best because of their wins.

SUMMARY.
First heat, International Sweepstakes, 5 miles: Anderson, Miller, first; Don Voge, second; Price, third. Time, 4:44 4-5.
Second heat, sweepstakes, 5 miles: Russo, first; Price, second; Schneider, third. Time, 4:31 1-5.
Finals, International Sweepstakes, 5 miles: Anderson, first; Lyons, second; Voge, third; Schneider, fourth. Time, 4:21 1-5.
Time trials, one mile: Anderson, 47 1-5; first, Lyons, 50 4-5; second, Russo, 51 4-5; third, Schneider, 52 4-5.
Southeastern Motor Derby, 9 miles: Russo, first; Young, second; Frontenac Special, third; De Paulo, fourth; Schneider, fifth. Time, 10:29 2-5.
Miller, fourth; Powell, fifth. Time, 8:29 2-5.

Athenians Cloak City in Festival Garb for Game

Athens, Ga., October 10.—Athens today dug out the moth balls that previously have only been used to welcome distinguished visitors to the city. The streets and buildings of the business section overnight appeared with a multitude of flags and Yale and Georgia colors.

The merchants and business men of this city have gone together and raised funds for the purpose of decorating the streets of the business section and the buildings of the city. The buildings are festooned with United States flags, the colors of the two institutions which clash here Saturday, and emblems of the bulldog, mascot of the athletic teams of both Yale and Georgia.

The trolley lines of the city—and Athens has more than its share of the street railways—are hung with flags, bulldog emblems and signs of welcome to the visitors to the city. The federal building here, housing the post-office and the headquarters of the United States judiciary for the Athens division of the middle Georgia circuit, today was bedecked with colors and flags, as were the other buildings in the downtown section. Special permission from the government was necessary to decorate the building.

The employees of the local post-office raised the funds to pay for the decoration.

The uptown mercantile establishments, particularly the drug stores, have welcomed signs in their display windows and some have miniature gridirons with tire figures in the red and black of Georgia and the blue and white of Yale line-up as if getting set for a real game. A local theater has "Welcome Yale" spelled in electrically lighted letters.

Plans are being made by the Athens police department and the military department of the university for the handling of the 9,000 cars expected here for the game, and the military department alone, under the direction of Captain Ira C. Nicholas, of the United States infantry, now stationed at the university, will have 40 students in uniform directing traffic from 8 o'clock Saturday morning to 6 o'clock that evening.

Walker, Lipton Asked to Game

New York, October 10.—Professor Giles L. Courtney, chairman of the board of athletic control at New York university, announced last night that Mayor James J. Walker and Sir Thomas Lipton had been invited to attend the N. Y. U.-Fordham football game at the Polo Grounds on Saturday afternoon, October 12, 1929.

In 1925 Sir Thomas Lipton presented to New York university the mast of the Shamrock IV and this now stands on Battery Hill on the campus of the university at University Heights.

'S. R. O.' Tickets Are Put on Sale

Athens, Ga., October 10.—(AP) University of Georgia athletic authorities announced tonight that about 4,000 tickets, calling for aisle seats or standing room, would be available for the Yale-Georgia game Saturday. These tickets will go on sale at the stadium at 11:30 a. m. Saturday, when the gates will be thrown open.

A crowd of 20,000 persons is expected and athletic officials said they were making an effort to give everyone an opportunity to get into the stadium and see the game.

Every road leading into Athens has been scraped level since heavy rains of last week.

Young Petrels Play Here Today

Coach Homer Chestnut's Oglethorpe freshman football team will play Georgia Military college of Milledgeville, Ga., at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the city stadium.

The Petrel frosh defeated Red Barron's Monroe Aggies last Friday and will meet another of the state's strongest prep clubs this afternoon.

The O. M. C. team is coached by "Slap" Rantz, former Mercer star, and Johnny Broadnax, former Georgia university quarterback. Broadnax formerly played at University School for Boys.

Only Male Jockey Wins Ancient Race

Newmarket, England, October 10.—(AP) Women jockeys were beaten by the only man rider in today's historic Town Plate horse race instituted by Charles II to be run "forever."

Frank Simpson, who has participated in the race 24 times, won on R. W. Collins' Fairy Water, which swept by the winning post in front of Grittenham, ridden by Miss Aubrey Bell. Miss M. Hamshaw, riding Lady Elois, was third.

Miss Eileen Joel, daughter of the financier, Sol Joel, riding Miss Wilful; Nancy Madden on Idelible; and Dorothy Saunders, on Fay Toy, were unplaced.

Quits Baseball.

Chick Fewster, veteran infielder with the Yankees, Brooklyn and Cleveland, has retired from baseball to enter the brokerage business. Jersey City gave him an outright release.

In the play-off series for the Sally league championship, Wadley, of Knoxville, batted .401 for the five games.

A. A. C. BOXERS CLASH TONIGHT

Coach Bean Expects To See Best Card Club Has Arranged.

Plans for the first amateur fight card of the season, which is to be staged at the Atlanta Athletic Club tonight at 8:30 o'clock by Joe Bean and his associates, have shaped up well and the program promises to be one of the best ever put on at the club, according to Coach Bean last night.

Bean, the athletic director of the club, has had a squad of about 25 men working out nightly for the past few weeks. Many of the bunch have already appeared at the club, while some few are new. All have looked good in workouts, and should provide interesting foils for each other.

It had originally been planned to stage the boxing team of Riverside academy here for the slate tonight, but the Cadets found at a late moment that football was interfering too much with these plans. Bean determined to stage the show at any event, using solely his own lads.

An eight-bout card has been arranged, although Bean has not yet decided as to just who will meet who. He has selected 16 names from his stable, and will put them on in an order to be announced just before the first bout goes on.

As an added attraction a wrestling match has been arranged. Bean has not yet ascertained just who will appear in this affair, but promises that it will be of a quality which will live up to the rest of the card. And Joe wants it known that this "rest of the card" is going to be nearly perfect.

Athletic boxing fans, and especially those interested in the amateur sport, are invited to attend the affair. The Williams street entrance of the club will be open for the occasion.

Navy Works Hard Preparing for Irish

Annapolis, Md., October 10.—Navy ended its hard drive today in preparation for the Notre Dame game in Baltimore on Saturday. Another strenuous scrimmage was staged, with the scrubs doing the ghost-playing for the Irish. Confidence for a Navy victory, which has been mounting all week, continues to grow today. Navy will rely on a deceptive attack.

Jackets Face Strong Tarheels Today

JACKETS FACE STRONG FOE IN TARHEEL CREW

Visitors' Great Offense Menace to Engineers. Title at Stake.

Just a good lot of boys. We are not favorites. Meanwhile Mr. William A. Alexander, The Man at the Flats, drove his team through the Thursday session and sent it reluctantly into the gymnasium. It has made progress, but it still has much more to make. The Man at the Flats has said nothing very loudly. He has been an indefatigable worker as has the remainder of the coaching staff. The team that was so ragged in the Mississippi Aggie game, has been stepped along tremendously. It must step still more.

No coach in the conference has essayed such radical experiments as has The Man at the Flats. He boldly removed the south's greatest tackle from the line and made him—Vance Marree—into a fullback. That was to offset the loss of Lumpkin, the greatest plugging back in Dixie in 1928. He has five new men in the line, tackle at fullback and a substitute of 1928 at quarter.

Chuck Collins has made no announcement of his tactics. His scouts saw a Tech team use passes last week in the Aggie game. The precedent-smashing sight. They also saw the Jackets fail to stop passes.

Chuck Collins used passes to total 43 points against Maryland. Vance Marree and the Tech backfield defense is in for the greatest barrage of passes, the most burning baptism of aerial fire it has ever had.

That will be the main weapon. If the Jackets refuse to attack the line, hoping Notre Dame system of running with the ball will be brought forth with a set of seven backs to select from.

TECH'S OFFENSE. Tech's offense against the Aggies lacked consistency. The line failed to check its men long enough for the offense to get going. The backs failed to cover passes.

They were all faults which can be corrected. Many faults have been eliminated this week. There have been a few changes in line-up. Sid Williams has replaced Sloan at end. He and Tom Jones will guard the flanks. Holt, a reserve of last year, and Watkins, another 1928 reserve, will be at the tackles. Joe Westbrook and Jim Brooke will flank Harold Rusk at center. In the backfield Earl Dunlap will call them at quarter with Marree at full and Thompson and Mizell at halves.

Yes, sir, a red, red war is scheduled to start at 2:30 at the Flats. The winner—probably the Jackets.

YALE SPEEDS TO GEORGIA

York, was picked up at New York late this afternoon. Every man slated to start the Georgia game was announced as being in perfect condition for the encounter. The entire Yale campus was alive with enthusiasm over the game as was demonstrated by the huge rally staged last night in Woolsey hall, in honor of the team.

Today the president of Yale university, James Rowland Angell, issued a statement in which he paid the highest tribute to Georgia and gave the reasons why Yale is making the long journey. He stated the trip is an embassy of good will to a southern university. His statement is as follows: "Superficially considered, the Georgia expedition might appear to be an invasion in force of the territory by hostile folk. In point of fact, it is an embassy of good will, based upon more than a century of cordial relations."

We should never, for a moment, think of sending a Yale team on a 1,500-mile expedition merely to play a football game. But the University of Georgia was founded by Yale men 140 years ago. Yale graduates played an important part in the early life of the state. In our generation we

Here is the long and short of the Tarheel-football squad which is to battle the Jackets of Georgia Tech this afternoon at Grant field. Johnny Branch, on the left, is the sensational midget quarterback, the North Carolina Stumpy Thomason. He stands a meager 5 feet 5 and weighs 150 pounds. At the other extreme is "Puny" Harper, reserve tackle, whose 214 pounds extend 6 feet and 6 inches into the air.

ROPER SEES ELI VICTORY

I would say it would be in the center of the line, though the Navy line always fights hard. I hear Gannon has been hurt. He is one of the best backs on the Navy team and he would be missed. I can see very little to choose between the teams, and feel the game will be a close one.

PRINCETON AFFAIR.

Princeton plays Brown at Princeton, and the outcome is very much in doubt. The Tigers certainly showed nothing against Amherst, and Brown in its first two games has not been impressive. Both teams have latent possibilities, however, and I feel they will put up a better brand of football than they have shown to date.

This is the first time a Brown team has played Princeton since 1900, when the Tigers won a close game in Providence by three touchdowns to one. I should say the Princeton line has a slight edge on the Brown forwards, while the Brown backfield looks a trifle stronger. Fogarty will put up a better brand of football than they have shown to date.

I wouldn't venture to predict the result of this game. The Princeton players enter the Brown team at dinner tonight, and I doubt if this get-together meeting will interfere with the play tomorrow in the slightest. I see no reason why football cannot be played in a friendly atmosphere, and I feel that the more two teams and their supporters can get together the more satisfactory the game is apt to be.

POSSIBILITIES.

Nebraska plays Syracuse at Syracuse. Nebraska has great possibilities with a wealth of powerful line material and some fast-running backs. Rube has hardly had a chance to get his system running, and the coaching staff has had little difficulty in winning by a big score from St. Lawrence and looks stronger than for the last couple of years. The long trip from Lincoln to Syracuse is a handicap for the Nebraska team. Under all the circumstances, I would not be surprised to see Syracuse win by a small score.

The N. Y. U. Fordham game should be a corker. Last year New York University had a decided edge, but Fordham had a splendid freshman team and is much stronger this year. N. Y. U. missed Strong, and doesn't look quite as powerful as it did this time last year, though it has had little difficulty winning so far. I figure N. Y. U. has the edge, but I look for a hard game.

Harvard has the making of a powerful eleven, and should have little difficulty with New Hampshire. The army plays Davidson, from the south, and should win handily.

STRONG DARTMOUTH.

Allegheny, from western Pennsylvania, meets Dartmouth at Hanover. The Dartmouth team with Marsters in form looks like a strong combination, and while I have no doubt the Pennsylvanians will put up a plucky fight, Dartmouth should have little difficulty.

Penn plays Virginia Polytechnic institute, a new game on the schedule. Penn showed improvement against Swarthmore, and should win.

I know little about Marshall col-

State seems to have no back as good as Glasgow, and Farroh has ability. Low seems the better guess. I shall not be surprised to see Chicago give Indiana a warm argument, and I'll not regard it as impossible for the Maroons to win. My guess is that Chicago has a better team than anyone supposes, and the Maroons are in a perfect place to give Indiana, Indiana's line is not as strong as last year, and its backs not as elusive. Indiana has had the benefit of experience against Notre Dame, but may let down after all the excitement.

POWERFUL GOPHERS. Minnesota probably will have the same power to overpower anybody last year, and the backs will have plenty of elusiveness. The only light on Vanderbilt is a defeat of Mississippi by a close score which does not seem to give the southern team the right to expect to upset Minnesota.

Notre Dame started off on the right foot against Indiana last week, and the rejuvenated Irish should keep up their stride against the Navy at Baltimore. Elder was the whole show against Indiana, however, and such fellows as Brill and Leahy. The Irish do not look as invincible, but they must be tested against a strong line, but I doubt if the Navy can provide it.

Nebraska, champion of the Big Six, traveling east to encounter Syracuse, should be much stronger after its tie with Southern Methodist, which gave Dana Bible, the new coach, the low-down on his material. Nebraska has lost Blue Howell, its fine back, but many critics believe Sloan is about as good. Nebraska should take Syracuse.

UNKNOWN QUANTITY. Missouri is an unknown quantity, opening against Iowa State, which overwhelmed Grinnell last week. But unless there has been a big slump in material at Missouri, which is doubtful, the Tigers will win.

Colgate, on the strength of its splendid game against Wisconsin, should repulse Michigan State without much trouble. Georgetown's football reputation, despite the defeat by Western Maryland, makes it the favorite over St. Louis.

Drake, champion of the old Missouri Valley conference last year, has made a good start toward the crown again, and is a favorite over Washington. I favor Marquette, though Grinnell last season, but seems to be stronger.

BULLPUPS WRECKED

man line and made the first touchdown. Wagner, Davidson and Rothstein all made good gains in advancing the ball to the Bullpup's 15-yard line, and there little Austin Downes grabbed the ball and carried it across the goal line.

ROTHSTEIN AT FULL.

After the first score, Roberts replaced Rothstein at fullback, and Kellogg went in for Henry Palmer, and the varsity proceeded with the business of scoring another marker. This time it was Jack Roberts who carried most of the burden of advancing the ball. The line was working together, and the Georgia fullback was plunging through large holes for eight and ten yards at a time.

The best offensive work of the afternoon was turned in by the second team, which was called out to oppose Gene Smith's men. This team was composed of Lynch, center; Snelling and Ringel, guards; Lynn and Bryant, tackles; Timmons and Kelley, ends; Handley and Dickens, halfbacks; Moran, quarterback; and Patterson, fullback. This team scored three touchdowns without losing the ball on down. Tommy Moran proved himself to be an expert in picking plays, while Dickens, Chandler and Patterson made long gains through the line and around the ends. Dickens made two 25-yard runs for markers, while both Patterson and Chandler got away for 25 and 30-yard gains.

AIR DEFENSE.

The defense against passes, which has been emphasized all the week, was not overlooked today as Coach Thomason spent the first 30 minutes of the practice in teaching his men to knock down the Yale passes. Coach Chick Shiver has the football candidates tackling the dummy for a long period this afternoon before the scrimmage began.

Tomorrow will be only a light workout, and it is rumored that the players will spend the night somewhere out of town.

Play New Teams.

Nebraska's veteran basketball team will take on several new games this year with Pitt, West Virginia, Montana State, Butler and St. Louis.

Cleanup Man.

Eric McNair, kick shortstop bought by the A's from Knoxville, batted in the cleanup position for the Sally league team.

VIRGINIA-V. P. I. STATES.

The same holds true for the Generals, Tech and the Cadets. The Cadets play only Virginia and V. P. I. in the state this year, their other conference opponents being Florida, Maryland, Clemson and Kentucky. Tech meets Carolina, the Generals, Virginia, Maryland and V. M. I. The Generals play North Carolina State, Kentucky, Tennessee, V. P. I., Virginia and Florida. All have six conference games except Tech, which has five. With the exception of Florida, Kentucky and Tennessee, the conference opponents are within the proposed northern division.

The same holds true in the southern section. Georgia Tech, champions last year, plays nine games, only one being out of the conference, that with Notre Dame. Incidentally, Tech meets one of the proposed northern end teams in Carolina, the North State Indians traveling to Atlanta for the tilt. Other southern division teams also play one northern section team, with the exception of Kentucky and Florida, the former meeting Washington and Lee, Clemson and V. M. I., the latter V. M. I. and Washington and Lee.

Under the present schedule, which is more or less as it has been in the past, the conference figuratively is divided. Northern and southern title-chasers meeting but infrequently.

Why should it not be an actual fact?

COUNCIL REQUESTS MAYOR TO APPOINT BOARD ON PARKING

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale was requested Thursday afternoon by city council to appoint a committee of eight to study the parking problem of the city and to make reports to council at its meeting to be held December 2.

The paper was introduced by Councilman James L. Wells, of the eighth ward, and provides that two members come from each of the following organizations:

City council, the Georgia Power Company, the mayor's special traffic commission and the Atlanta Retail Merchants' Association.

It was passed without a dissenting vote.

BANKRUPT GERMAN OWNER OF CASTLE KILLS SELF, BABES

Breslau, Germany, October 10.—On the day his castle and domain were to be sold at auction because of his financial difficulties, Herr Von Schuetz-Goldfus and his three children were found dead in his bedroom. The father had shot himself and his children after setting fire to the room. The Japanese wife of Von Schuetz-Goldfus and her mother and aunt were overcome by smoke and were carried unconscious to a hospital.

Recognizing the possibilities of lifelike picturized demonstrations of the many points of Chevrolet superiority—the Chevrolet Motor Company has taken to the motion picture screen to tell you about the sensational new Chevrolet Six.

A series of films, devoted to the gruelling tests to which Chevrolet cars are subjected at the famous General Motors Proving Ground, will soon be shown in the theatres of this city as a part of a national Chevrolet movie campaign. These films clearly and dramatically portray every sales feature of these new cars in a manner that is of absorbing interest to everyone. They are excellent examples of this modern method of demonstration by means of motion pictures.

You will see Chevrolet cars being driven at high speeds, in every kind of weather, over roads far rougher than the average motorist will ever encounter. You will see how springs are tested for strength and for cushioning qualities. You will see how the big, non-locking 4-wheel brakes are proved under conditions far more severe than they will ever meet in normal driving service. You will see how careful checks are made of gasoline and oil consumption, and how the famous Chevrolet 6-cylinder valve-in-head motor was perfected to give the amazing economy of better than twenty miles to the gallon.

These movies are educational. Moreover, they will hold the interest of every owner and prospective owner of an automobile—bringing home to them, in unforgettable picturization, the salient features of the Chevrolet Six.

When you see these pictures at your favorite theatre, consider the infinite possibilities of motion picture advertising. It is dramatic, instructive and compelling—and it reaches the prospect at a time when he is undisturbed by any outside influence. In short, it is the next best thing to an actual demonstration!

Cotton Letters

FENNER & BEANE.
New York, October 10.—Basis over northeast portion of the market, demand for contracts and spot, and the trade and to the effect that price is too low in view of the reduced supply of cotton. The today and gave the market a good tone and slightly higher range of prices.
Trading sentiment seems to have undergone a considerable change as a result of the very evident desire of spinners to provide for future needs, and market has a much better tone than for some time.
The fact that the price is nearly half a cent a pound under last year even though the supply is nearly half a million bal-les is creating sentiment in favor of the buying side.
Indications are that the market will work higher.

LIVINGSTON & CO.
New York, October 10.—Influenced by firm cables, cotton 10-12, ruled off but steady throughout the day and closed firm, 9-10, with a contributing element. There was no particular news feature. The trade and the market were so bullish and spot people are reported to have been buying on balance. Speculative interest was inactive awaiting news.

RUBBARD & CO.
New York, October 10.—After an advance of 10 points on better cables and bullish textile figures, the market held again and closed very steady at the high. 12-13 Reports were general from the south that the report of a cotton shortage was silly and the basis advanced all along the line. It is felt that the level created and if there is no greater hedge pressure from the south than there has been since the report, the market should do better.

ORVIS BROS. & CO.
New York, October 10.—Today's cotton market displayed a decidedly improved tone. While the cloth figures mentioned in our letter last night had a contributing influence, yet the real significance lay in the slightly reduced amount of hedge sales and the advance of mill buyers
at slightly higher prices.
The market may work into the trading which prevailed just prior to the last crop estimate.

H. & B. BEER.
New York, October 10.—The cotton market ruled somewhat higher today and while buys were not so free, there was a contributing influence, yet the real significance lay in the slightly reduced amount of hedge sales and the advance of mill buyers
at slightly higher prices.
The market may work into the trading which prevailed just prior to the last crop estimate.

GEORGIA DAIRYMAN ATTACKS FLORIDA'S MILK LABELING ACT

Tallahassee, Fla., October 10.—(AP)
The Florida statewide milk and cream act, one of the laws of the 1928 legislature, found its way into federal court at Jacksonville today.
Attorney General Fred H. Davis was advised that N. O. Davis, an operator of Hawkinsville, Ga., had been sued for an injunction restraining him from carrying out the provisions of the act, which regulates interstate and intrastate handling of milk and cream in Florida.
The complainant alleges that the dairy he deals with Jacksonville milk firms; that his deliveries are made by truck under refrigeration and that he cannot be compelled to label his milk, in accordance with the act, because he believes it would be a violation of the federal constitution, and "creates an unlawful restriction and burden upon interstate commerce."
The act, he declares, was solely to create a prejudice among Florida consumers of milk and milk products against milk products in other states, and would create a "Chinese wall" around the state of Florida.

THE BEASTS OF TARZAN No. 47

No sooner had the Beasts of Tarzan vanished than Rokoff rose from his hiding place and raced through the jungle as fast as his legs could carry him. His one thought was to put as much distance as possible between himself and that frightful pack. So it happened that as Jane came to the river's bank, down which she hoped to float to the ocean and eventual rescue, Rokoff was but a short distance behind.

Upon the bank the girl found a great dugout tied to a tree. After an hour's work she was pushing it free from the retarding mud when she saw a man running toward her. A little cry of terror rose to her lips. It was Rokoff. Another moment and the boat would be free. She worked furiously. With a sudden lurch the dugout swung quickly into the current, just as Rokoff reached to grab its bow.

His fingers did not miss their goal by six inches. The girl almost collapsed from the nervous strain of the past few minutes. But, thank fortune, at last she was safe. Even as she breathed a silent prayer of thanksgiving, she saw an expression of triumph light the face of the cursing Russian. He dropped suddenly to the ground, grasping firmly to something which wriggled through the mud toward the water.

Jane crouched, wide eyed and horror stricken, in the bottom of the boat, as she realized that at the last moment success had been turned to failure, and that she was indeed again in the Russian's power. For the thing that the man had seen and grasped was the end of the trailing rope with which the dugout had been moored to the tree. But his smile of leering triumph was destined to be short lived.

DRAINAGE BONDS UPHELD IN COURT

Week Palm Beach, Fla., October 10. (AP)—Bonds totaling $1,265,000 for the south Florida conservancy district, a water control district involving portions of Palm Beach and Hendry counties, were validated in circuit court here today. Pumping and water control activities in the district which will place at least 10,000 acres this year and 20,000 next year under cultivation are planned as result of the issuance of these bonds, according to James M. Burguiere, a member of the conservancy board.

THREE DOCTORS REPORT TODAY ON FALL ILLNESS

Bribery Case Against Aged Man May Be Declared Mistrial.

Washington, October 10. (AP)—On the report of three physicians who examined Albert B. Fall today under orders of the District of Columbia supreme court depends the decision whether the bribery trial of the former interior secretary will continue or be declared a mistrial.

The latter course seems more likely tonight, as one physician other than Fall's personal doctor told Justice Hitz today that the aged defendant was not able to stand trial. Fall has not left his hotel room since Tuesday.

Fall's family physician, Dr. H. T. Safford, who accompanied him here from El Paso nearly two weeks ago, said his patient's condition was not immediately amenable to treatment.

Dr. Frank Leach, Dr. John Thomas and Dr. J. C. Teasbury, who were named from the bench to conduct the examination, were closeted with Fall for half an hour today. They refused to comment on his condition pending Justice Hitz's disposition of their report. Their appointment brought to eleven the number of physicians named by the government to ascertain Fall's condition for other trials, which resulted in postponements.

"Personal feeling" between Fall and Dr. Sterling Ruffin, the first physician to examine Fall, did not prevent the assignment for "professional" reasons, Dr. Thomas A. Clayton examined the former secretary first to try to determine his condition. He reported him too ill to go to trial. He recommended further examination, however, and then the three named doctors were named.

STRAYED RUSSIAN WOLFHOUND JUMPS FROM HIGH WINDOW

The owner of a Russian wolfhound, who, according to the evidence, is some jumper, can recover the dog by conferring with Call Officer Paul Higgins or M. D. Cartwright.

While cruising in the vicinity of Georgia and Washington avenues late Thursday night the officers found several youths in possession of a Russian wolfhound. The boys hastened to assure them that they had "found" the animal and said that he had just jumped from the second-story of a nearby apartment where they had taken him. The dog plunged through the window and took a severe fall, according to the youths.

The officers carried the dog to an institution for the relief of canine disorders.

MRS. JOHN COOLIDGE PREPARES ARTICLE ON WIFEHOOD AIMS

New York, October 10. (AP)—The Cosmopolitan Magazine announced today that Florence Trumbull Coolidge, wife of John Coolidge, has written an article for the January issue under the tentative title of "What Kind of a Wife I Want To Be."

The magazine said "Young Mrs. Coolidge places her choice of housekeeping as a 'career' to the example of her mother. Her aim is to live on her husband's income and by making a successful home enable him to have a successful career."

My brick cottage home on Adams Street, Decatur. The location is between, and only a short distance from, two car lines: Emory University and Broad Hill and East Lake Clubs are in short riding distance; fifteen minutes' easy riding to the heart of Atlanta. The house has living room with large fireplace for log fires; music room, dining and breakfast rooms, kitchen, three large bedrooms, lots of closets; furnace heat; also several porches, two large tiled back porch, side and rear tile-floored porches, the latter 18 by 20 feet, screened and with built-in cabinets; garage; servant's room and toilet; a garden of rich soil with thick cement walks; pool, tennis, tips and tennis; fine shade trees and shrubbery. The land is a corner 200 feet front, 240 feet back to a 16-foot alley. Buyer could take only half the lot if desired. This is an 11-year-old comfortable home and I am willing to sell to the right party at a substantial reduction of its cost, and on easy payment terms. No encumbrance. If interested in a possible offer, please see my representative at 218-19 Trust Company of Georgia Building.

WILL SELECT CAST FOR CIVIC THEATER PLAY ON SATURDAY

The cast for "Dionysus" to be given here in November by the Atlanta Civic theater, will be selected at 8 o'clock Saturday night at the theater, at Fourteenth street and Peachtree, by Donald Mayre, of the Ansonia Little theater, who will direct the play, it was announced Thursday by Pendleton Mitchell, assistant director of the theater.

The play will be the first to be given during the winter season, and is from the pen of Sardoy, noted French playwright.
